Motorist Killed, 17 Hurt in Auto Bus Crash

GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—(UP)—A motorist was killed and 17 persons were injured slightly last night in a bus-auto crash about eight miles north of here on the highway to Lake George.

Frank Eldridge, 77, of Caldwell, was thrown from his car and killed when it was struck by an interurban Glens Falls-Warrensburg bus near historic Bloody Pond.

Sixteen of the 30 bus passengers and the driver reported minor injuries, mainly bruises. None was hospitalized, authorities said.

Southwestern Power Firms Back U. S. Dam Plans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Support of 12 private power companies in the Southwest for construction of public power dams in that area was pledged last night by C. H. Moses, President of the Arkansas Power & Light Company.

Moses said his company and the other 11 in an integrated system are willing to purchase all power generated at the public dams now built or contemplated. He listed States involved as Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

He addressed a meeting of Arkansians and Oklahomans who are here to ask the House Public Works Committee today to approve legislation designed to permit a construction start on the Arkansas River development plan.

Spy Probers to Subpoena 7 Professors

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(INS)—The Illinois Seditious Activities Commission announced last night it will subpoena Atomic Scientist Harold C. Urey and six other University of Chicago professors in the probe of alleged Red activities at the University.

Sen. Paul Broyles, Republican, of Mount Vernon, Chairman of the Commission, said the seven University professors will be summoned to appear before the investigating group Monday in Springfield.

He said the Commission's decision to issue the subpoenas was aimed at giving the seven professors a chance to defend themselves against charges made at previous hearings that they indoctrinated students with pro-Communist teachings.

Tobin Would Outlaw Commie Union Officials

CHICAGO—(INS)—Secretary of Labor Tobin called last night for legislation making it illegal for Communists to hold office in labor unions.

Tobin told a news conference in Chicago: "This Congress should pass legislation making it illegal for a Communist to hold a union office."

"Professors and teachers in colleges and schools should be ousted if they lean toward Communism. They have no place in our educational system."

The Labor Secretary asserted all Communists were guilty of plotting against the Government, and added: "That is their creed and their doctrine. They never can take away our freedom, but they can cause a lot of trouble."

He said Communists in schools and on publications were especially dangerous because "they poison minds."

Mrs. Longstreet Lauds Chattanooga Policeman

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(AP)—A Chattanooga officer has received a letter nominating him for "Policeman of the Year in Tennessee."

The letter to Officer T. V. Wade said: "This is from the old lady to whom you brought delicious sandwiches and hot coffee, refusing to accept pay, at the bus station in Chattanooga."

The letter was from Mrs. Helen Dorthea Longstreet, of Marietta, widow of the famous Confederate General.

Independent Fact Finders Meet Today

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

You will be hitching a ride or walking for a while yet. Transit negotiations appear at a stalemate.

Prospects for early settlement of the Atlanta transit strike, entering its tenth day, appeared dim as negotiators girded for another conference set for 10 a. m. today.

Actions of the Georgia Power Company and the Transit Workers' Union tended to confirm the report that no immediate settlement is in sight. Agents of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, seeking to end the strike, could offer no encouragement.

In preparation for a resumption today of negotiations between the Company and the Union, William S. Pierce, Regional Director of the Conciliation Service, and his assistants, D. K. Jones and Judge Atlanta's transit strike shows promise of becoming an annual affair. A permanent solution is suggested. See editorial, Pg. 12.

John L. Cone, wrote "all day yesterday to devise a formula which might prove acceptable to both sides. They refused to say what they had in mind."

During the day, Pierce conferred separately with Jesse Walton, President of the Union, and C. B. McManus, President of the Company. He refused to indicate results of these conferences.

"But I'm always hopeful of a break any time," he commented. Both Walton and McManus refused yesterday to add to what they previously said in reiterating their refusal to budge from offers made last week to settle the strike.

Walton remained at Union headquarters most of the day to confer with associates, while McManus continued to hold conferences in his offices with members of his staff.

While 320,000 daily bus riders in Atlanta continue to suffer inconvenience as a result of the strike, agreements between management and labor have averted similar situations in other cities, notably in Mobile, in New York City and in San Francisco.

In New York City, the Third Avenue Transit Corporation averted a strike by reinstating three discharged bus drivers. In San Francisco, taxi drivers, in lieu of going on strike, accepted a minimum daily wage of $9.75, or 50

Solons To Ask Crouch About Poyntz Case

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday made plans to dig into New York City's 12-year-old "missing persons" case of Juliet Stuart Poyntz in connection with its atom bomb spy investigations.

The move was disclosed by committee sources in announcing that Paul Crouch, 47-year-old Miami, Fla., newspaper mechanical department employee and a former Communist Party organizer, has been subpoenaed to testify before the spy hunters on May 24.

He will be questioned both about the Poyntz case and a report that an unnamed scientist "X" passed along some atomic secrets for Russia on the West Coast six years ago.

Crouch currently is writing a series of articles about his experiences for his newspaper, the Miami Daily News. One article says that Juliet Stuart Poyntz, National Secretary of the International Labor Defense, was murdered in 1937 and her body thrown into the East River.

'Voice' Strengthened To Beat Jamming

BERLIN—(AP)—America's radio voice in Berlin will step up its power five times over in an attempt to smash through Soviet jamming of the Voice of America, it was learned yesterday.

Official American sources said Station RIAS, controlled by the American Military Government, will be increased from 20,000 watts volume to 100,000 watts by June 15.

Russia To Let 16 Freight Trains Daily Into Berlin As Blockade Lifts

The blockade in Germany will be lifted at a minute past midnight Thursday morning (5:01 p. m. tomorrow, Atlanta time).

This was announced last night by the Russians and the Western Powers. When the deadline is reached, two-way traffic to Berlin and across the Soviet zonal border will start. The Russians said 16 trains a day will begin supplying Berlin.

For 10 months the Russians have blocked the western sectors of Berlin, and the United States, Britain and France have maintained a counter-blockade of the Soviet Zone of Germany. Technical arrangements for lifting the blockades were made without restoration of Four-Power contact in Berlin.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—A leper said he had a congressional committee yesterday and urged that the Federal Government stop treating lepers as outcasts and that it ban the use of the word "leper."

It was a far cry from days when lepers were shunned as "unclean." There wasn't a murmur as the witness, who used the assumed name "Nick Farrell," told members of the Senate Labor Subcommittee that victims of the disease are treated unfairly because of public misunderstanding.

"Farrell," who came to this country as a boy immigrant, has an arrested case of leprosy. He was formerly a patient at the National Leprosarium at Carville, La.

He said that less than half the lepers at Carville are bedridden, and most live fairly active lives. He endorsed a bill which would authorize care of lepers at other Federal hospitals.

Sen. Claude Pepper, Democrat, Florida, urged approval of the bill which would call the affliction "Hanson's Disease."

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—You wake up in your pajamas and house, pull off your pajamas and chew them.

That's breakfast. You ride to work on an atom-powered train, climb into your ceramic office, then bite into some highly seasoned lumber.

With some slight chemical variations, that was the picture of the world of tomorrow presented by Prof. Eugene G. Rochow, of Harvard.

The professor, awarded a $1,000 prize yesterday for his research on sand derivatives, said the world would have to stop eating up its resources and turn instead to chemistry.

A spokesman for the British legation to the Vatican said Britain's Princess Margaret "will definitely see" Pope Pius XII. The prospective audience has drawn objections from Protestant groups in England. The Princess is vacationing in Italy.

Pope Pius has said the "free initiative of individuals" rather than socialism is the key to economic progress. His address, made Saturday night to a group of Catholic employers, was released yesterday by the Vatican.

The Pontiff called for co-operation between workers and employers. The answer to the world's economic ills, he said, must be found in employer-employee relations which preserve the authority of the employer while providing

Find Woman's Body Hanging Aboard Train

CLOVIS, N. M.—(AP)—Sheriff Val Baumgart said last night a woman's body had been found hanging in a restroom aboard the Santa Fe Railroad's Grand Canyon Limited.

Baumgart said she was identified as Mrs. Bertha Durlacker, Baton Rouge, La. The papers showed she came to the United States from Germany in 1942.

The body was found by a porter as the train pulled into the Clovis yards yesterday afternoon. It was suspended by wrapping cords 4'om a hook in the wall and sagged against the door when the porter tried to open it.

The sheriff said the woman had apparently boarded the train at San Francisco.

'Humiliated' Utah Senator Quits Atlantic Pact Talks

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Sen. Watkins, Republican, Utah, angrily quit the Atlantic Treaty hearing yesterday and charged that Sen. Connally, Democrat, Texas, had "lectured, humiliated and embarrassed" him.

Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, replied the committee had tried to be courteous toward Watkins and another critic of the Security Pact, Sen. Donnell, Republican, Maryland. The two had gained permission to question witnesses during the hearings which may end this week.

Watkins walked out when Connally objected that he was "making a speech" in questioning a witness. Watkins said nothing to Connally but he told a reporter he was "sick and tired" of his treatment and that any other questions he has would be asked from the Senate floor.

Connally said Watkins and Donnell had used up two-thirds of the committee's time. Donnell elected to stick it out.

Robert P. Patterson, former Secretary of War, told the committee the treaty would keep the peace because Russia wouldn't dare to war against the combined strength of the 12 treaty nations.

Reds Outflank U. S. in Asia, Poling Warns

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A noted churchman reported yesterday on his return from a six-week fact-finding tour through the Orient that a vast Communist outflanking movement is being attempted in Asia.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Philadelphia religious leader and newspaper columnist, was sent by President Truman's Committee on Religion and Welfare in the Armed Forces. Dr. Poling said:

"Communism is promising China what Gen. MacArthur and his administration has given Japan—land and the means of earning a living."

He said the answer to Communism in the Far East can be found in the U. S. policy of "patience with strength" in Europe, and urged a broadening of that policy to cover the Orient.

Dr. Poling attributes the assassination of Mrs. Quezon in the Philippines to Communists.

TURTLE FLIES TO LISBON

Navy Commemorates First Atlantic Crossing

LISBON, Portugal—(UP)—The United States Navy's famed Truculent Turtle arrived yesterday from Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., in a nonstop flight commemorating the first crossing of the Atlantic by air 30 years ago.

Aboard the twin-engine patrol bomber were Rear Adm. Albert Read, retired, and Eugene S. Rhoades, former machinist's mate, who were members of the crew who flew the Atlantic in a Navy NC-4 in 1919. The NC-4 took off May 8, landed seven times en route and reached Lisbon May 27.

The Turtle, a P2V-2 Neptune, set down here at 11:59 a. m. (5:59 a. m. EST). Her flying time for 3,100 miles was 16 hours and 50 minutes. The ship used 2,641 gallons of gas and the weather was so perfect there was plenty of fuel left in the tanks.

Commander Thomas D. Davies, who piloted the Turtle, was at the controls when the big bomber set the world's non-stop, non-refueling record in a 11,236-mile flight from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, Ohio, in 1946. That record still stands.

United States Ambassador Lincoln McVeigh, his wife, the American Embassy staff and 20 Portuguese air and naval officers welcomed the Turtle and her passengers.

Also on hand was Retired, Commander Loureiro, only Portuguese aviator veteran still alive. He and Read had attended training school in Pensacola, Fla., together in 1920.

Read stepped from the plane into the brilliant sunshine looking fresh and making no attempt to hide his pleasure at his second Atlantic crossing.

"The difference between this flight and my flight in 1919 demonstrates perfectly the two epochs in aviation," he said. Read's flying time was 157 hours and 16 minutes and the NC-4 was returned to the United States by boat.

Davies, Lt. Cmdr. W. Y. Morton, the copilot, and Lt. John E. Echlerling, the navigator, will stay in Lisbon two days, then fly to London and from there to Paris. The Turtle will fly home from Paris Sunday.

Davies said the flight was made without incident. He said he had favorable winds all the way.

drink bottle on the blood-stained floor near Dana's body, and a number of half-burned cigarettes. Dana's parents were separated the minister said. She lived with her mother and brother in Roanoke.

The minister thought Dana might have gone to the church Sunday night looking for the meeting and found her slayer. The Young People's League usually met at the Parish House, he explained, but Sunday night went to Calloway, Va., instead. The league members returned from their meeting at 8 p. m., and several girls went into the Parish House to hang up Dr. Garrett's vestments, police said, passing within a few feet of the kitchen. Dana's mother, Mrs. Morrell Weaver, was placed under a doctor's care. Dana's brother, Dick, an employee of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, refused to allow anyone but officers and the minister to see her.

Dick identified the dress which Dana was wearing when she was slain as one of her best.

230,000 Phone Workers Join Ranks of CIO

WASHINGTON — (UP)—The CIO added 230,000 telephone workers to its ranks yesterday and said the action will "spearhead" a new drive to unionize some 18,000 white collar workers.

The telephone workers were brought into the CIO fold when Allan S. Haywood, Union Organization Director, issued a charter to the Communications Workers of America. Joseph A. Beirne, President of the former independent union, accepted the charter.

Beirne said the action of the telephone employees in voting two-to-one to join the CIO sounds the "death knell" to independent unions in the industry and "lights a beacon for those who are in the field organizing white collar workers."

Talmadge Sets Meet Of Tax Unit

Gov. Talmadge has announced the tentative dates of June 7 and 8 for Georgia's Tax Revision Committee to meet, organize and begin work on a tax program to submit to the 1950 Legislature.

The Governor, who is Chairman of the Tax Revision Committee, said he will recommend the Committee hold a series of public hearings after its organizational meeting in order to get tax program views from all sides.

He is expected to announce Wednesday nine new appointees to the committee to replace appointees of former Acting Gov. Thompson. They will represent agriculture, manufacturing, wholesale and retail merchants, public utilities, veterans, labor and women.

Of 10 committee members appointed by Thompson to represent these groups only one, E. L. Cocke, Sr., President of the Fulton National Bank, is slated for reappointment.

On the committee along with the Governor are Attorney General Eugene Cook, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine, five legislators appointed by House Speaker Fred Hand, and three Senators appointed by Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin.

Several members of the General Assembly recently have urged Talmadge to convene the tax revision committee to work on tax proposals to relieve Georgia's school crisis. Sen. Lee Purdom, of Blackshear, Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and a member of the tax revision group, has been especially insistent that the revisionists should meet.

Meanwhile, William M. Lester, Director of the Tax Revision Committee, has been compiling data for the group, and yesterday issued a bulletin describing tax legislation introduced and passed this year by the legislatures of more than a score of other states.

Coppenger Back From California

Lt. M. M. Coppenger, of the Atlanta Police Home Bureau, returned from Los Angeles yesterday after a week of questioning members of the Metropolitan Opera in connection with the John Garis slaying here.

$500,000 City Painting Fraud Charged in N. Y.

Special to The Constitution
NEW YORK—A half million dollar fraud in city painting contracts, carried out with the knowledge of conniving city employees, was charged by District Atty. F. X. Hogan yesterday. First indictments were returned against a union executive and a painting contractor.

A general investigation will follow into other contracts let by the City, Hogan announced.

Hinting that action is pending against City employees, Hogan disclosed that 11 have been questioned before the Grand Jury under waivers of immunity. Among those quizzed were Deputy Hospitals Commissioner George H. Bruns, in charge of buildings and maintenance, and Chief Inspector George McAvoy, of the same department.

Hogan said Mayor William O'Dwyer wished departmental action brought against culpable employees, but that he had requested postponement of such steps until the investigation is completed.

Spattered by the first painting racket indictments were: Jerry Jerome, 40, President of a Brooklyn decorating firm, Sam Lemkin, 46, Chairman of Local 442 of the AFL Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, and secret owner with his wife, Edna, according to Hogan, of 40 percent of the decorating company's stock.

The defendants are accused of applying only one coat of paint and that inferior, on two jobs aggregating $91,809 where two coats of standard paint were called for in the painting of the City Home and Metropolitan Hospital on Welfare Island.

Hogan charged that a "pattern of fraud" had been established in 16 contracts totaling $560,860 handled by the firm, and that all are being investigated. Eleven other hospitals, the Brooklyn Municipal Building and Manhattan Supreme Court were among the jobs.

One death has seemingly trailed in the wake of the inquiry. Nathan Epstein, 58, Inspector in Controller Lazarus Joseph's office, who plunged down a Municipal Building stair well April 19, had been questioned the previous day in the investigation, Hogan confirmed.

S. Ga. Winds Damage Crops Home, Lines

SURRENCY — (P) — Severe

hail and wind storms striking from three directions late yesterday, caused extensive crop damage, knocked out power lines and partially wrecked a home near here in Appling County.

Spurred by estimated 40 to 50-mile winds, hail stones described as "half as big as hen eggs" plummeted down in this area, leaving broken young crops in their wake.

Lannis M. Tillman, local filling station operator, reported the home of Mrs. J. T. Blanton, about five miles southeast of here, was seriously damaged. He said the roof of the building was tossed into an adjoining field and the wall was blown down.

Power circuits were torn down about 5 p. m., Tillman said and electrical service had not been restored late last night. The storm lasted approximately one and one-half hours.

Apparently the storm reached as far as Telfair County to the northwest and to Wayne County to the southeast, Tillman said.

Shies at School Aid

JACKSON, Miss. — (P) — Gov. Fielding L. Wright declared yesterday that he would not approve Mississippi's acceptance of Federal aid to education "until we set our house in order." The question of racial segregation is involved, Wright said.

Two Starving Sisters Discovered in Cottage

NEW ORLEANS—(UP)—A kindly neighbor with a plate of cake found two aged, crippled sisters and their canary starving in a tumble-down cottage yesterday. One had been in agony since Friday with a broken hip.

Police found $269, most of it in $10 and $20 bills, in old pocket-books and stuffed in cracks. They also found two bank books, showing accounts of $1,900 and $200, and six jewelry boxes crammed with old watches, rings and stick-pins, worth probably $4,000 to $5,000.

Miss Margaret Ueberschlag, blind and 75, was lying on the floor of her bedroom, where she slipped and broke her hip. Her elder sister, Mrs. Ann Clark, 79, is crippled with arthritis and had not been able to move from her chair. Miss Ueberschlag said she used to walk in the yard, but had not ventured out of the house since she became blind two years ago. Mrs. Clark hadn't been out of the house in seven years.

Mrs. Pascal Migliore, a neighbor, found the ladies when she went to take Miss Ueberschlag some cake.

When Mrs. Migliore couldn't get an answer at the door, she opened it. Miss Ueberschlag was groaning. Her sister, dressed in an old-fashioned dress, was sitting in her chair, too weak to move.

Before she and her sister were taken to Charity Hospital, Miss Ueberschlag said a peddler brought them all the food they had eaten. She said Mrs. Clark hadn't trusted anybody since her husband died seven years ago. She was afraid the jewelry would be stolen.

Miss Ueberschlag said she didn't know where the money came from, unless her sister saved it from the public relief they both got.

The canary's cage was polished, but the canary was too weak to do more than chirp faintly.

Pardon Board Eligibility Case In Court

The State of Georgia today will defend the right of Eugene Wilburn to serve as a member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles in a hearing before Judge Ralph Pharr in Fulton Superior Court.

Wilburn's eligibility to serve on the Board was challenged last week by Randall Evans, Jr., attorney for E. B. McLendon, Jr., former Augusta policeman under sentence of death for the slaying of his wife last year.

McLendon's plea for commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment was turned down recently by a two-to-one vote of the Pardon and Parole Board. Board members Wilburn and Mrs. Rebecca Rainey voted against commutation, and Chairman Edward Everett dissented.

Seeking to have the decision declared null and void, Evans attacked Wilburn's eligibility on the grounds that Wilburn is engaged in banking and farming, and was a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee. (Wilburn says he has resigned). Evans cited a 1943 Georgia law that forbids a member of the Pardon and Parole Board to engage in any other business or profession or from serving on a governing body of a political party.

Louisiana Claims Immunity From Federal Suit

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Louisiana contended yesterday that a State cannot be sued by the Federal Government in the Supreme Court unless that State gives its consent.

The contention was made in arguments in the Louisiana-Texas tidelands case.

Government attorneys replied that such a theory is "frivolous." Attorneys representing Louisiana were F. Trowbridge Von Baur, of Washington, and L. H. Perez, of New Orleans.

They argued in support of their objections to a motion by the Government requesting permission to sue Louisiana and Texas for paramount rights in off-shore lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

The two States claim title and rights to the rich oil-bearing lands.

Atlantans, Cornelia Firm Insure Union Seniors' Trip

BLAIRSVILLE—Edgar Jenkins, President and first-honor student of the graduating class of Union County High School here, is 16 years old and it's been a long time since he cried.

But Edgar's eyes were suspiciously shiny yesterday. He had just learned that sympathetic Atlantans had guaranteed the class trip to Washington and, more than that, officials of the North Georgia Wholesale Company, of Cornelia, were making it possible for the class to travel more comfortably and stay longer.

County Commissioner Jack Towns and Fulton Police Chief Neal Ellis underwrote the trip for $600—and the Cornelia wholesalers sent a check for $600 more, designed specifically to "provide more comfort and more fun along the way. Then, pulling himself together, he tried, like a class President, to express his thanks.

To make it formal and official, Edgar is calling a meeting of the class immediately and will send a delegation to Atlanta to thank the County Commissioner and the Police Chief in person. The class of 40 students, many of whom have never been out of Georgia in their lives, will leave for Washington May 16.

Mississippi Justices Write Dice Ruling in Grid Terms

JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—Mississippi Supreme Court Justices admitted their slight personal knowledge of craps shooting yesterday and wrote

They reversed $25 fines for 12 of 13 Negroes who ran from a craps game when police appeared. In the opinion written by Justice Lee Hall, conviction of the 13th Negro, Tom Newsome, was upheld as the one who was "rolling" the bones.

"Applying our combined meager and insufficient knowledge thereof (craps shooting)," the Justice wrote, "we are unable to find any proof that all appellants were engaged or were wagering money thereon."

Borrowing more familiar football terms, the opinion continued: "A diligent constable, intent upon upholding the peace and dignity of the State of Mississippi approached the hapless and unwary appellants and discerned that they were huddled in a manner similar to that in our game of football."

"But there is no evidence of the proverbial pigskin," the opinion added. "The appellant, Tom Newsome, was calling the signals and carrying the ball. At the moment play was interrupted he was calling for a six and rolling something upon the ground which one of the witnesses identified as dice."

The court said that "upon discovery of the presence of the law, the formation broke into a running match, but two skyward shots from the constable's gun brought a halt."

All 13 were convicted in a Simpson County Peace Justice court and fined $25 each. But they appealed to the Circuit Court and from there to the Supreme Court.

Atlantan Wins Scholarship

Robert S. Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron S. Brandt, of 1759 Flagler Ave., N. E., has been awarded a Cornell University national scholarship with a total value of $6,000.

Twenty-five such scholarships are awarded annually on the basis of "capacity for scholastic achievement and the promise of effective participation and leadership in other university activities." Each scholarship provides $600 a year, plus tuition, for the number of years required to obtain a bachelor's degree.

A senior at Henry Grady High School, Brandt plans to enter the five-year mechanical engineering course at Cornell next fall. He ranks in the top tenth of his class and is a member of the football squad.

THE MAN WHO wants a finer motor car than the 1949 Cadillac, will have to wait.

He will have to wait until the science of motor car manufacture has reached a higher level. For here—in this gorgeously beautiful creation—is to be found the embodiment of all that is currently good and desirable in an automobile.

It is, in every way, as fine and splendid a motor car as it is practical to produce.

As is true of each succeeding Cadillac model, the advancements in the 1949 car are manifold, and encompass every aspect of the car's goodness. But the year's greatest advance is in the power plant—a wholly new V-type engine which easily ranks as Cadillac's creative masterpiece.

The power flow is so smooth, and so seemingly inexhaustible, that many say the car seems to move by automatic propulsion. Performance is really a challenge to the imagination.

If you wish to know how truly wonderful a motor car can be, you are cordially invited to call at our showrooms for a look and a ride.

You are welcome at any time—regardless of the price class from which you expect your next car to come.

Policy Chiefs Turn Down Big-4 Bid

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Sens. Tom Connally and Arthur H. Vandenberg yesterday turned down an invitation from Secretary of State Acheson to attend the Big Four Foreign Ministers meeting on Germany.

They said they preferred to stay here and push for Senate approval of the North Atlantic Pact and its accompanying arms-for-Europe program.

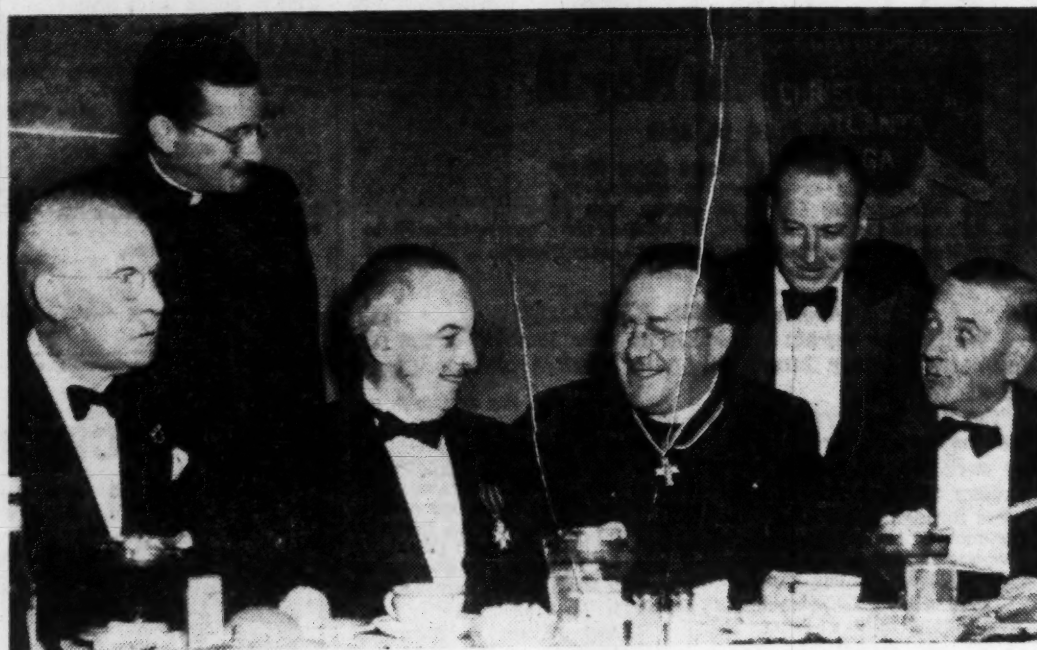

Acheson said after a meeting with the two congressional foreign policy leaders that they would attend the sessions in Paris, which starts May 23. If there is an "urgent need" for their presence, Acheson said he concurred in their decision to come only if needed.

Authoritative sources said President Truman joined Acheson in suggesting that Connally, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Vandenberg, Senate Republican Foreign Policy leader, attend the discussions.

PROMINENT CATHOLICS—The Holy Name Societies in the Atlanta area honored Clarence Haverty, Bernard Kane and Hughes Spalding at a dinner in the Ansley Hotel last night for high Papal awards they received recently. Chatting before the dinner are, front row, left to right: Haverty, Kane, the Very Rev. Harry C. Graham, National Director of the Holy Name Societies, and Spalding. In the rear are the Rev. John F. McDonough, assistant to the Pastor at Christ the King Church, left, and William J. Sullivan, President of the Cathedral Parish Holy Name Society.

Holy Name Societies Honor Atlanta Trio

More than 100 members of the Holy Name Societies in the Atlanta area honored three members of the Co-Cathedral of Christ the King Parish with a dinner at the Ansley Hotel last night. The three laymen recently received high Papal awards from Pope Pius XII.

They were Hughes Spalding and Clarence Haverty, who were made Supernumerary Private Chamberlains of the Sword and Cape, and Bernard Kane, who was made a Knight of St. Sylvester.

After short talks by the prominent Catholic laymen, the Very Rev. Harry C. Graham, O. P., National Director of the Holy Name Societies, told the group the history of the founding of the Holy Name Society in the 13th century.

"The Cathedral Parish of the Holy Name Society," said President William J. Sullivan, "is the only one in the country which has three Papal honorees among its members."

The three laymen were given honors by the Pope in late 1946 and were invested with them at ceremonies in the Co-Cathedral of Christ the King April 26, 1949.

The honors given Spalding and Haverty are awarded by the Holy See to distinguished Catholic laymen who have rendered special service to the church. The Order of St. Sylvester is the Order of the Golden Militia, one of the oldest and most prized of the Papal Orders.

BIRTH CONTROL URGED FOR JAPS

TOKYO — (UP) — A physician suggested yesterday that families in crowded Japan be limited to two babies per family during the next 20 years to reduce the nation to a "peaceful population of 70,000,000."

Dr. Shozo Toda, honorary professor of Kyoto University, also urged women who are considering marriage to postpone that act for five years.

ARMY SECRETS BARED

U. S. Halted Liberation Of Czechs at Red Request

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Department dug up long-secret World War II official records yesterday to show that American liberation of Czechoslovakia was halted at Russian request.

Moscow and the Czech Communist regime have sought to make political capital out of the fact that Red Army troops—not forces of the Western Allies—liberated Prague. Western Allied troops were held back in Western Bohemia, after having recaptured the city of Pilsen from the Nazis on May 5, 1945.

The Department made public exchanges of messages between Gen. Eisenhower and the Soviet high command in Moscow. They were published on the fourth anniversary of the liberation of the Czechoslovak capital, Prague.

The record shows that Eisenhower telegraphed the American military attaché in Moscow on May 4 to inform the Soviet high command that the Western forces intended to "advance immediately to the line Carlsbad-Pilsen-Budweis and to capture these points."

"Thereafter, we are ready to continue our advance into Czechoslovakia to the Elbe and the Vltava Rivers . . ." Eisenhower said. He was then supreme Allied commander.

This advance against the disintegrating Nazi forces would have taken Eisenhower's troops East of Prague.

However, on May 5, 1945, the

Prince Louis, II, Of Tiny Monaco Kingdom, Dies

MONACO—(AP)—Prince Louis II of Monaco died yesterday.

Louis, who only last Thursday turned over his duties to his grandfather, Prince Ranier, had been in ill health. He was 78.

He ruled the tiny principality of Monaco since 1922 when he succeeded his father, Prince Albert I. Monaco extends over an area of about six-tenths of a square mile of the rocky Mediterranean coast, bordered by the Alpes Maritimes Province of Southern France. Its principal source of income comes from the famed gambling casino at Monte Carlo.

Prince Ranier, 25, who now becomes the ruler, was a lieutenant in the French Army during the war. His mother, Princess Charlotte, renounced her right of succession in his favor in 1944.

Art Center Here Planned For Opera, Music Groups

By PAUL JONES

Atlanta's many civic operatic, ballet, dramatic and musical groups soon may move out of high school gymnasiums and outmoded auditoriums into a beautiful new Art Center of their own.

ECZEMA
A simple way to quick relief from itching Eczema, pimples, angry red blotches or other skin irritations is to apply Peterson's Ointment to affected parts. Relieves itching fast. Skin feels better, looks better; 40c all drugists. Soothes itchy feet, cracks between toes. Peterson's Ointment de-lights or money back.

Possibility of such a center being constructed here within the next few years was heightened yesterday with an announcement of a new Atlanta Fine Arts Center Foundation, which is being sponsored by the Atlanta Women's Chamber of Commerce. The new Foundation is composed of a number of Atlanta amateur civic organizations, committed to stimulate interest in cultural arts in Greater Atlanta. It was instituted by Mrs. Amber Anderson, Vice President of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, who has been named chairman of the Foundation.

Mrs. Anderson enlisted the support of the Atlanta Civic Opera Company, the Civic Ballet, the Symphony Guild, Atlanta Music Club, Town Hall, Theater Guild, Civic Theater, Dance Theater, American Guild of Organists and Children's Theater in forming the new Foundation.

She pointed out how many of these organizations has been unable to obtain suitable auditoriums for the expression of their particular type of art. Only Monday, the Civic Opera was forced to rehearse its latest production, "New Moon," beginning at midnight and continuing until 5 a. m. The Civic Theater and other dramatic groups have been forced to stage their plays in high school and college auditoriums and gymnasiums because of the lack of an Art Center.

The Atlanta Music Club, one of the members of the new Fine Arts Foundation, presented each of its concerts last season in Wesley Memorial Church Auditorium. Mrs. Anderson said the Music Club's programs were among the outstanding cultural presentations here each year.

Funds to be used in construction of an Art Center will be contributed by each of the members out of funds raised in presenting shows. These contributions and funds provided by individual donors will be voluntary, she said.

The first show to be presented with the full support of the new Foundation will be the premiere of Lula Vollmer's "She Put Out to Go." This drama, with comedy highlights, will be presented by the Atlanta Civic Theater, June 8-11. Funds from this showing will become a "nest egg" for the Foundation's building fund.

The Foundation was organized April 26. The Board of Directors will consist of two members of each organization. Its aims are construction of the Art Center and to co-ordinate efforts of member civic art groups by establishing a central office for providing information about current productions, dates, prices, locations, etc., of member organizations and to stimulate interest among members of the individual groups in the Foundation in productions of the various groups.

A member of civic minded individuals, including Mrs. Charles Dowman, Past President of the Atlanta Music Club, have expressed keen interest in the Foundation and eventually construction of a center for the expression of fine arts.

Reinhardt Makeover Shaping Up for May 18

TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1949

Suggestion of the day: Some dates to remember: May 13 at Athens to witness the Little International Livestock Show; May 18 at Reinhardt College, Waleska, to witness the Conservation Field Day; May 20 at the Experiment Station, Experiment, to take part in the Sheep Breeders' annual meeting.

50,000 VISITORS EXPECTED

Well, the program is shaping up handsomely for the big Reinhardt College face-lifting which takes place on May 18 at Waleska.

The Soil Conservation forces and the local farmers have been at work for sometime, the machinery dealers of Georgia have come through nobly with heavy dirt-moving equipment and tractors and the veteran trainees are rallying around 1,000 strong.

There will be 1,000 tractors at work, many miles of fences will be constructed, pastures seeded, a fish pond created, and the College farm put in condition to produce food to the extent of the needs of the students.

More than 50,000 visitors are expected to attend the field day. It is entirely possible Vice President Barkley will be able to attend. Word received from Sen. Russell indicates the Vice President is doing his best to get to

NCAA Secession
Seen for South

There's been a pretty hot sports story brewing around for the past several weeks and has gone unnoticed in the confusion of baseball, the Kentucky Derby and other Spring activities.

You see, it primarily involved football and amounts to a probable second secession by the South from the rest of these United States, as far as the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association's sanity code is concerned.

The South has tried the NCAA system for a year now and has found out that it is really aimed at an insanity code. It has found that the price of football players has skyrocketed, the competition for them is of the cut-throat variety, and that financial doom for all but a chosen few of the schools is looming on the horizon.

It believes that something must be done about it. Consequently a meeting has been scheduled for Atlanta the last weekend in May in which representatives of the Southeastern, Southern and Southwest Conferences will gather to plan a course of action.

Not So Drastic There appears to be little doubt what will be decided. The odds are 50-1 that the three conferences will vote to submit a logical plan for athletic scholarships to the NCAA and say, in effect, "This is what we intend to do."

Such a move would leave the NCAA a vote, which might have pretty good chance of approval, or, two, to dismiss those involved from the organization.

If it should come to a vote it is possible there could be enough strength mustered around the nation to adopt the Southern's new proposal.

However, if the Southeasters are kicked out, it will amount to making their athletes ineligible for all NCAA competition, a drastic appearing action which, in reality, would amount to little because the schools involved play 95 percent of their athletic contests against one another anyhow.

General Accord Of course, there may be some opposition to the South's secession from within the SEC, Southern and Southwest Conferences themselves. But, without doubt, the overwhelming majority would be in favor, at least in the first two named.

A Southern Conference source said: "I feel without doubt we will go for it. In fact, there are some schools which already threaten to discontinue the NCAA code on their own."

The Southeastern's opposition to it is no secret. In fact there was powerful opposition to the league's ever adopting the code in the first place, but the feeling that the league couldn't buck it alone prevailed. But then, only halfheartedly.

Feeling in the Southwest is said to be in general accord with the proposed break, but there are those who are quick to point out that Commissioner James Stewart, of the league, is a member of the NCAA's compliance committee and might balk.

Insanity Code Proponents of the secession are emphatic in their belief that the NCAA sanity code, as they have it, is hypocritical and unworkable.

And they have armed themselves with a vast amount of material to prove their point.

The Southeastern Conference operated on a legalized scholarship plan for athletes before the adoption of the NCAA code. This included the payment of $10 a month spending money, something definitely outlawed by the new code.

One SEC source remarked wryly: "Since the insanity code went into effect, we have almost been put out of business. The amount of money being offered high school prospects would shock the imagination and most of it is coming from other parts of the country."

It is probable that a preliminary meeting among the three conferences will be held in Birmingham at the Southeastern Conference track meet the weekend of May 21 with another here in Atlanta the following week, when the SEC and Southern winners hold a dual meet.

Lindquist Hurls 6-Hitter As Crackers Win

Drake Homers
In 5-2 Win

By F. M. WILLIAMS

Constitution Sports Writer

HARTWELL FIELD, MOBILE, Ala.

The Crackers backed up sixpitching by Carl Lindquist with a perfect defense and their best hitting attack since they opened a four-game series here

Saturday to take a 5-2 decision from the Mobile Bears last night.

Lindquist, racking up his second victory against one defeat,

was in trouble only twice and the

Crackers pulled him out of those holes with double plays. The keystone combination of Gene Ver-ble and Dave Williams racked up a third twin killing, but it was not important as the other two.

Manager Cliff Dapper shifted his lineup, inserting Rusty Morgan at third base in place of Chet

Hajduk, who is in a bad hitting slump, and it paid off.

Morgan banged out two doubles, both of which figured in the scoring, and Larry Drake, who was dropped a notch in the lineup, came through with his second home run of the season with Dave

Williams on base in the eighth inning.

While Drake's hit didn't win the game, the Crackers were ahead

3-2 at the time—it certainly took the pressure off for the first time

during the series.

handed hitter, lashed a line drive

run off Lindquist in the second inning, the big Atlanta right-hander ran into his first trouble in the fifth inning.

Fred Leonard greeted him with a double and Bernie Zender singled him home, but Lou Kahn hit into a double play to nip the rally in the bud.

Lindquist walked Pinch Hitter

Red Bartz to open the eighth

but after Russ Ross flied out,

Verble and Williams combined on another twin killing. Then Williams added the crowning blow in the ninth.

Walter Rogers opened with a single but Taylor popped to second. Bill Antiello hit a sizzling liner that Williams leaped high into the air to pull in and then doubled Rogers off first.

The Crackers got their first run in the opening inning on a walk to Ralph Brown, Morgan's

first two-base hit and an infield out by Al Blair.

After the Bears went ahead in the fifth, Durocher's men came back with two more in the sixth on Brown's single another double

by Morgan and Dave Williams

The two runs batted in for little Williams, incidentally, ran his total to 17, tops on the Cracker team.

Drake's homer ended the scoring in the eighth.

Al Hodkey, a lanky Cracker

left-hander, will make his first start of the season in the closing game of the series tonight.

ANOTHER CARSON WINS—J. L. Carson, not a brother, but a member of the same clan as more publicized Johnny, strains to the utmost as he hits tape ahead of Smith High's Jack Blair (barely showing behind Carson) to win the mile run in the finals of the Region 3 AA track meet at Piedmont Park yesterday. Blair had barely edged Carson two weeks before in the same event by setting a new City League record of 4:52. Carson's time yesterday in the damp going was 4:58.

The fourth game in the National

New York's fence-busting Giants

extended their winning streak to seven games last night, lambasting the Chicago Cubs, 7-2, at the Polo Grounds.

The Dodgers did some lively swinging themselves, but weren't up to the output of the Cardinal

braves. Jackie Robins n and Mike

McCormick lit homers in the 10th

attack on Brazle and Howie

Pol.

The Cardinals came out of a three-game losing streak with vengeance, getting 15 hits, including two homers in a 14 to 5 triumph over the Dodgers in Brooklyn.

Kookie Eddie Kazak hit a grand slam homer and drove in another run with a double.

Rookie Tommy Glaviano lambasted a three-run homer and added two singles. Every Cardinal starter except Pitcher Alphi-Brazle got at least one hit in the mistreatment of six Brooklyn throw-

ers. The Dodgers did some lively to be weak in the mound depart-

nine scattered hits while his hard-

Chicago pitchers.

Sid Gordon, Giants' third baseman, rapped out his seventh home run of the young season in the third with a mate on base. Outfielder Willard Marshall's out-of-the-park poke came in the seventh with the bases unoccupied.

Ralph Hamner, the Cubs start-

He was relieved by Dewey Adkins

in the fourth and then followed by Andy Dornier, Emil Kish and Dwain Sloat.

Right-hander Vern Bickford, returning after being shelled from the mound in the first inning Sun-

THE PREPARADE

Snake Bite Remedy, Corsage for Carson

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

That big package we marked "fragile, perishable" and sent special delivery Saturday morning was addressed to Mr. Johnny Carson, Roosevelt High School, Atlanta, Ga. It contained a large, economy-size bottle of snake bite remedy and the most beautiful corsage we could find at the Beautiful Bess florist shop.

If "Little Fiddlin' John" continues in the future as he has in the past he'll be able to make good use of both gifts. The gangling lad with the unruly black locks has been "snake bit" so many times in the last three years he already is a reasonable facsimile of a sieve.

If he continues to play the "always a bridesmaid role" he can make use of the corsage until the flowers are as brown as a 100-year-old newspaper clipping.

That letter we mailed along with John's package contained hearty congratulations to Coach O. V. Bruner, Henry Wade, Gene Hay, Lester Kelly, Carl Shirley and Carson for the large part they played in bringing Roosevelt the championship in the tenth Southern Interscholastic golf tournament at Chattanooga over the weekend.

The honor never before has been won by an Atlanta school, and it is no small one when one considers that some 31 school teams and 25 other unaffiliated groups of four from all over the South—chiefly from Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama—competed for the honor over the very difficult Riverview Country Club course.

About That Snake Bite

That takes us back to Brother Carson's snake bite condition. Johnny, who had pitched a six-hitter against Grady High to win his third straight City League baseball game, 8-2, two days before he took up his nibble at Chattanooga, once again barely missed winning the individual title. Little Billy Key, of Columbus, beat him out for the same title by two strokes in 1947 when Johnny was representing the late Tech High School.

Another Columbus boy, Fred Mitchell, nipped him and O. V. Bruner for having the easy jobs of coaching the talented golfers at Columbus and Roosevelt. He dropped us a note, commenting: "All 'great' coaches have to admit sometimes that good athletes do not necessarily hinder their chances of becoming 'great' coaches. You can't make a bulldog out of a cat, and you can't play polo with mules."

Baron Rally Beats Pels; Pebbles Shell Lookouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Birmingham Barons put on a big five-run third inning last night to defeat the New Orleans Pelicans, 8-6, at New Orleans.

The Barons' winning pitcher Bob Drake won the distance, but he had some stormy innings. He stopped a short-lived Pel rally in the eighth after George McDonald sliced a homer over the left field fence to bring home two mates.

Bill McDonald, who started for New Orleans, was relieved by Lloyd Dietz in the eighth inning. The Barons got their winning runs off Dietz on singles by Lyons, Nelson and Drake.

Kenneth Humphrey hit a three-run homer as the Little Rock Travelers whipped the Chattanooga Lookouts, 7-4, at Chattanooga.

Al Piechota racked up his third win against one defeat, but had to have help in the eighth when the Lookouts scored one. Hal Toews was the loser.

Hal Simpson had three singles for the Braves.

Memphis and Nashville were rained out of their scheduled twin bill at Nashville.

JUST MADE IT—Vic Wertz, Detroit outfielder, just got back to first in time in the eighth inning of yesterday's Tiger-New York Yankees clash at Detroit. Jack Phillips, Yankee first baseman, made the tag an instant too late after taking the throw from Catcher Charlie Silvera. The Tigers won the only American League game of the day, 4-1, to move into second place ahead of the idle Cleveland Indians.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Consistency of Giants' Pitching Staff Provides Biggest Surprise in Majors

Condensed from AP, UP, INS Wire Reports

Maybe it's a mirage, but right now the New York Giants, supposed to have only hitting strength, are enjoying the best pitching in either of the major leagues.

The Giants have seen their hurl-ers cover 10 games without a one of them being knocked out of the box. Two were removed for pinch hitters, and five of the last six had gone the route. The terrific hurling has been paced by the "Big Four"—Clint Hartung (4-0), Sheldon Jones (2-3), Montie Kennedy (2-1) and Larry Jansen (2-2). Jansen has won his last two starts after a slow beginning.

Backing this awesome pitching with five regulars hitting well over the .300 mark, the club has moved to the top of the National League.

OTHER BASEBALL—Gus Zernial, of the Chicago White, has drawn a round of praise from Casey Stengel, the pilot of the New York Yankees. Casey says that "when he (Zernial) gets on a real hot umpire, he'll kill the boards loose on the fence." Casey's words for the 210-pound rookie are well backed up by Zernial's current batting average. He's hitting a cool .354. In addition, the Yank skipper gave plenty of the boy when he hit 40 home runs and batted in 154 scores for Hollywood of the Coast League. . . . Billy Cox, the Dodgers' third baseman, suffered a badly sprained ankle yesterday in pregame drills and will probably be out of action for about a week. . . . In Chicago, physicians were forced to amputate the right leg of Charles Koney. He was hit in the condition last night after the operation. Koney, the second baseman of the Louisville Colonels, suffered a shattered right leg, fractured left leg and broken nose Saturday when the hot water tank in his basement exploded. . . . Wake Forest's Southern Conference diamond pace-setters added their twentieth straight victory yesterday when they clipped North Carolina, 4-2, at Chapel Hill. The team stands to rank with the all-time Southern collegiate greats.

IN RACING—The Preakeens stock of Noble Impulse was boosted yesterday when Crispin Ogilby's colt won Pimlico's Survivor Stakes in a new track record time. It sped the mile and a sixteenth distance in 1:42 in outrunning five rivals to a five-length victory. Blue Hills was second and Hedderwood third. Noble Impulse is also a Belmont eligible. . . . Other big race winners were My Emma in the Water Blossom Classified Handicap at Belmont, San Justo in the East Wind Purse at Suffolk Downs. Some Town at Garden State, Don't Quote Me at Golden Gate and Blue Badge in the Manuel Purse at Churchill Downs. . . . Omaha arrived in New York yesterday, and no definite plans have been made for the Derby disappointment's next start. Chances are it'll be in the Withers Mile at Belmont on May 21. . . . Jockey Steve Brooks, winner in the $31,600 Kentucky Derby Saturday, came home third in a $2,000 claiming race at Pimlico yesterday. The crowd, however, gave him a nice hand for his Derby triumph. . . . Bill Corum, who selected Capot in the AP Poll for the Shreveport Derby, picked Ponder and named the three next horses in order in his New York Journal-American column.

THE ROUND UP—Elroy Hirsch, the ex-Wisconsin star who wants the Chicago Hornets, of the All-America Conference, to release him so he can sign with the National League's Green Bay Packers, conferred yesterday with Ray Flaherty, coach of the Chicago club, and the latter said afterwards "we hope Elroy will be with us next year and we think it can be worked out." Hirsch wants to be near his Milwaukee wholesale food business and probably won't play unless it is with the Wisconsin team. . . . Jack Kramer and members of his touring troupe have entered the World Professional Tennis championships at Wembley Stadium in London May 30. . . . TECH, GEORGIA RAINED OUT ROAD GAMES

Georgia and Georgia Tech's baseball teams were both rained out yesterday on the road.

The Jackets were postponed at Nashville and will meet Vanderbilt in a double-header this afternoon. Georgia's scheduled tilt with South Carolina was canceled after rains made it impossible to play yesterday.

John Harper Hurls Decatur To Win Over Fulton, 15-3

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Decatur did its part to end its feud of long standing with North Fulton yesterday. The Bulldogs from Buckhead were feeling more kindly towards the Bulldogs from Decatur after Coach Charlie Waller's nine had slugged out a 15-3 victory over the Fulton High nine at Decatur to knock the Redbirds out of a tie for the NGIC League lead with Ray Taylor's idle North Fultons.

Big John Harper, lanky right-hander, was the big hero as he twisted three-hit ball, fanning seven batters en route, in his best pitching effort to date.

Harper was backed by a ten-blow assault on four Redbird twirlers which begat the Decatur folks 15 runs, the biggest knock of them all being Pete Johnston's three-run homer in the third frame. Larry Morris and Claude Young also belted round trippers later in the game. Young sparked the attack with three safeties and Morris, Johnston and Dan Mainer were manufactured.

Reserve Expert Sees
Down Trend Continue

"I look for a continuation of the present downward trend in business, including further declines in industrial production, sales volume and prices, for the rest of the year," Dr. Earle Rauber, chief economist and director of research for the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, yesterday told the luncheon meeting of the Georgia Engineering Society at the Luckie Street YMCA.

ERP Nations'
Production at Prewar Level

ATLANTA, N. J.—(AP)—

A member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System said yesterday production in most Marshall Plan countries "has now reached or surpassed prewar level."

M. S. Szymczak told the fifty-third annual convention of the Maryland Bankers Association:

"In 1948 the output of many war-devastated countries rose sufficiently to make it possible for them to replace shipments from the United States with domestic commodities, and at the same time to send increasing quantities of their products to us as well as to other markets."

Szymczak said a third of the U. S. commodity exports in 1948 went to Western European countries.

"In 1948 we exported goods and services valued at $16,800,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 less than in 1947; on the other hand we imported goods and services valued at $10,500,000,000 or $2,000,000,000 more than in 1947," he said.

With the rehabilitation of foreign merchant fleets, Szymczak said, net revenue for American lines dropped from $1,000,000,000 in 1947 to less than $500,000,000 last year.

Most foreign countries still have a dollar shortage, he continued.

"This shortage holds down our exports of industrial and electrical machinery although virtually all countries are still badly in need of further modernization and expansion of their capital equipment," he said.

Both international and domestic economy now are in a period of readjustment from deficit to surplus conditions, Szymczak said.

"Crippling bottlenecks in production and annoying scarcities of consumer goods have now largely disappeared," he said.

Steel Control

LONDON—(UPI)—Commons last night passed the Labor Government's bill to nationalize the iron and steel industry at an estimated cost of $2,600,000,000.

The vote was 333 to 203.

The measure was sent to the House of Lords, where approval was expected.

Late Trade Buying
Advances N. Y. Cotton

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady Monday in dull trading. A late flurry of trade buying and short covering carried prices to high ground for the day.

For the day, the close, with final levels 55 to 65 cents a bale higher.

Favorable export prospects imparted a firm tone to the market. It was reported that Great Britain had started negotiations with United States shippers to buy cotton against its increased second quarter ECA credit.

The amount involved was more than 100,000 bales. It was estimated that new ECA cotton credits issued in the last week would cover in all foreign purchases of some 300,000 additional bales of cotton for delivery by June 15.

Offsetting these favorable reports it was said in export circles that the army has temporarily suspended further buying of cotton for Japan because unexpected supplies have been diverted from China to Japan. Some 50,000 bales aloft were recently diverted by ECA.

Private export forecast continues to range around 10 to 15 percent above last season's plantings.

Evening-up operations in near-by May contracts accounted for most of the activity in futures trading, with a leading spot firm selling May and buying July 1949 delivery at difference of 100 points.

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Cotton futures declined a few points around the opening Monday but rallied later on short covering and trade buying against recent spot sales for export. Closing prices were steady, 50 cents to 65 cents a bale higher.

The bulk of trading consisted of evening-up operations for last day Notice 3a; Friday, May 10. Unfavorable reports from leading textile centers and favorable weather over most of the belt added to the early business.

AB&C RENOVATION

ACL Chieftain Cites
Critical Era for Rails

Railroads and the country are both at a critical point at the moment, says R. J. Doss, Vice President for Traffic of the Atlantic Coast Line and its affiliated lines.

In an interview yesterday, Doss said the nation has a high business potential at present, but the decline could become serious unless an upturn comes in general business activity.

In an address later to the Atlanta Transportation Club, the former Georgian said railroads are faced now with a question of survival. Tremendously increased expenses incident to wage raises and the necessity for establishing a 40-hour week have confronted railroads with a national bill of $640,000,000 in added costs, he said.

Increasing charges or cutting expenses are equally difficult but their alternative would seem to be a further move in the direction of socialism through government operation, Doss said.

"It is the objective of some of our labor leaders," he added. "Railroads are modernizing to meet competition, Doss said, but they are hampered by State regulatory bodies in their efforts to trim out losing feeder lines that have long since lost their passenger traffic to buses and automobiles."

Doss cited the improvements being made on the old AB&C right-of-way as an indication of the way ACL is modernizing. Laying of 100-pound rail and installation of a new signal system will permit faster and safer travel through Georgia, he said.

Southeastern industry is one of the main hopes of the ACL and its affiliated lines for the future, Doss said in the interview. He cited as new and growing railway feeders the pulp and paper industries.

Landlords File
Action Against Housing Chief

NEW YORK—(AP)—A Federal

Court action was filed yesterday by two landlords' organizations seeking to prevent T. H. E. Woods, Federal Housing Expediter, from continuing with his recently announced rent increase formula.

The suit also seeks a judgment declaring the Federal Housing and Rent Act of 1949 unconstitutional.

The action attacks the Housing and Rent Act as an invasion of State rights and therefore in violation of the Ninth and Tenth Amendments to the Constitution.

The suit was brought by the Federal Landlords Committee, Inc. and the Diamond Construction Co., Inc., representing a number of owners of New York apartment houses.

Jerome P. P. Tobin, counsel for the plaintiffs, said a summons had been given to a U. S. marshal for service upon Woods, who has 60 days in which to answer.

A group of 25 public officials and radio and newspaper representatives will be invited to inspect and to fly a Hiller 360 helicopter at a private showing on the Brookhaven golf course at 9:30 a. m. Thursday, an official of the Hiller Company announced yesterday.

The helicopter, which has just completed a coast-to-coast hop, will be demonstrated by Stanley Hiller, Jr., President of the Company. A pilot will accompany Atlantians into the air and allow them to take turns handling the ship. Langhorn Washburn, assistant to Hiller, said.

1ST PRESIDENT SINCE JUNE

S.S. Ball Named Head
Of Montgomery Ward

CHICAGO—(AP)—Montgomery Ward & Company had a President yesterday for the first time since June. He is Stuart S. Ball, 45, who has been with the nation's second largest retail merchandising firm since 1932.

Ball succeeds Wilbur Norton, who resigned June 10, 1948, following an intra-company feud revolving around Sewell Avery, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. After Norton's resignation, the Company's nine Vice Presidents quit.

Avery appointed eight new Vice Presidents last month. Yesterday's naming of a President completes the top executive personnel of the Company. Ball was elected by the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors.

For several months La Salle Street financial circles have been full of rumors that Ball was Avery's personal choice for the presidency. As such he is in a position to take over running of Ward's if Avery, 75, should retire.

Ball has been closely identified with Avery in the managerial battle within the Company. It was Ball who phoned Norton, when the latter was in Boston, to inform him that directors had asked for his resignation.

Ball is the fourth President of the Company since 1938. In that year Avery relinquished his duties as President, remaining as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer.

The first of these Presidents was Raymond Fogler. He resigned and is now President of W. T. Grant Company.

The second was Clement Ryan. He resigned and subsequently was killed in an airplane crash.

The third was Norton. Since

Capital Airlines yesterday reported a net loss of $499,120 for the first quarter of 1949 compared with a net loss of $1,007,961 for the same period of 1948.

J. H. Carmichael, President, said operating revenue was up 31 percent or $1,303,458 to a total of $5,480,236, with passenger revenue up $599,539. Carmichael pointed out that Capital had purchased $2,100,000 principal amount of its debentures at a cost of $1,353,601, for a net gain of $757,563 from this transaction. This, he said, improved Capital's net position $258,443 in spite of the operating loss.

He was presented to the Transportation Club by J. W. White, Director of Traffic of the Tennessee Corporation.

Howard Gore, of Acme Fast Freight, presided at the Club meeting. New members introduced included: J. B. Eldredge, Chief Clerk, Cluett-Peabody Company; Jack M. Rice, District Manager of Southwestern Fuel Company; Sam D. Whitley, of Southern Pacific; J. C. Norris and George M. Floyd, of Terminal Transport; G. T. Gilbert, of Georgia Highway Express; T. J. Hart, of Cathcart Allied Van Lines; James L. Skraggs, of Frisco Railway; and Douglas M. Avera, Shipping and Production Manager, Del-Mar Cabinet Company.

AVERAGE U. S. FAMILY EARNED $222
MORE AFTER TAXES IN '48 THAN IN '47

NEW YORK—(AP)—The average American family in 1948 earned $222 more after taxes than in 1947, Sales Management Magazine reported yesterday.

The magazine said its twentieth annual survey of buying power showed 80 percent of this added income was spent in retail stores. Of total take-home pay, it added, 69 cents of every dollar was spent on retail store purchases.

The survey listed average per-family income in 1948 was $4,531, compared with $4,309 in 1947, and average retail sales per family as $3,131 against $2,955 the previous year.

"Although national income gains started to taper off in the latter half of 1948," said the publication, "the revised tax bill made it possible for people to keep more of the dollars they earned."

That's why we urge you to come and see this new De Soto before you decide on any other car.

You notice the difference right away. De Soto's doors are wide. You walk in... and keep your hat on. The steering wheel doesn't hit your knees. You're on chair-high seats, so that you get all the benefit of the larger windows and windshield.

You've got full stretch-out leg room, front and back. And you've got more luggage space in that flush-floor trunk than you ever dreamed of before.

Yes, De Soto is lower. It's got a longer wheelbase (all passengers ride between the axles). But there's no penalty for these advantages. Overall length and breadth are not increased. You needn't rebuild your garage. You can still change a tire. And a dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job.

Permanent Machinery Is the Real Need

Metropolitan Atlanta's transportation strike, which shows promise of becoming an annual affair, offers ample evidence that the time has come to set up some permanent machinery for settling such disputes before they reach the brass knucks stage in which leadership on both sides has taken up positions making it difficult to retreat.

Without at all intending to detract from any proposal to end the strike, we think it obvious that the usual suggestion of a "fact-finding" body, whose findings have no authority, doesn't meet the need. The facts of the Power Company's condition and of the subsidiary transportation company's income, losses, profits, ability to pay, working conditions and every other necessary item of information is available in exhaustive degree in the files of the Public Service Commission, which recently concluded a thorough and painstaking investigation into the company's condition. In so doing, it used the union wage scales as a basis for its decision in so far as they related to the company's ability to pay.

The collapse of the fact-finding provision of the Railway Labor Act is an apt illustration. This act provides for emergency fact-finding boards. Their recommendations have no binding effect at law. Since 1941 the "fact-finding" feature of the act has been brushed aside. In the current Diesel case the board rejected the union request for a third man in the cab. The Brotherhood has again chosen to ignore the "facts" and has taken its case to the White House.

The New York Times, in discussing the dropping of a strike threat in New York last week, referred to the "spectacular" success of permanent machinery in the settlement of disputes in the men's and women's garment trades. Says the Times:

"The heart of their system lies in the appointment by mutual agreement of an impartial chairman. It is his function to arbitrate problems over which the parties disagree. His decision is final and binding on both sides. We feel an impartial chairman devoting full time to the labor problems of the private bus companies could make a substantial contribution to alleviating the unrest that has plagued the industry."

That makes sense. When management and labor both announce they will not be bound by any fact-finding board's recommendations; when the information long has been available in detail in the Public Service Commission's files, it seems to us the need is for something which will settle this strike and next year's, too.

We hope the State Legislature will become interested. After all, in the past two years the wages of the operators have in part been subsidized by the citizens of all Georgia in that profits from the Power Company have been used to pay the deficits in the transportation field. We trust the SEC and the Public Service Commission will order against that practice.

Also, there are other transportation companies in the State and many other public services. Is it too much to ask that a real effort be made to set up permanent machinery for the amicable arbitration of disputes?

Tax Delinquents and Schools

Appling County citizens have been digging deep in their pockets to raise $10,000 additional needed to operate the schools for the final month of the term. Appling schools were closed for a week because of the money shortage.

Meanwhile, Appling Tax Collector Bud Craven has disclosed that approximately $58,000 in past due taxes remains uncollected, of which about $8,000 represents unpaid school taxes. If that money had been available when due, Appling schools probably never would have had to close.

Paying taxes does not come under the heading of universal pleasure, but some of the delinquents must have felt a light pull of the conscience when they saw fellow citizens joining in the popular subscription. Appling, of course, is going after its tax delinquents. But it can't go any faster than legal processes allow.

Other counties, suffering from a school dollar scarcity, might well look to the delinquents on their own tax books.

Scholastic Press Honors

About a thousand enthusiastic high school journalists met in Athens on Friday in a successful session, the twenty-second, by the way, of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association.

These young scribes listened attentively to an array of speakers, but all the time their minds and hearts were set on the annual award of trophies for distinction in the high school newspaper field.

All through the school year they had thought, written, edited, and made layouts with an eye on those handsome trophies. The passing out of prizes was the pay-off.

The Constitution is proud to have had a part this year by adding a trophy to the list. Our cup, for the best editorial page and editorial features, was won by the Pitchfork, Marietta High School paper.

THOMAS L. STOKES

"The 'Labor Boss' Often Stacks Up Well"

WASHINGTON—In connection with labor legislation in Congress there's lots of loose and irresponsible, and often angry, talk about "labor bosses" who are caricatured as ogres or evil spirits who somehow or other are trying to "dictate" to Congress and Government. Long years of covering Government and politics and civic affairs, whether in city or State or here in Washington, or both, gives the newspaper reporter a good insight into both labor leaders and business and financial leaders. In such experience one learns that the "labor boss," if one wants to call him that, stacks up over-all very well alongside those in business and finance who sit at the top of our corporate economy and across the table in bargaining, some of whom are pretty big "bosses," themselves. Often the edge is distinctly in favor of the labor leader when it comes to sincerity of purpose for the general public welfare. There are some few in both groups who get overly conscious of their power, as in any human society.

But, as for "dictation" of Congress by labor, that is the most absurd myth of our times to anyone who lives here daily with Congress and has seen the impregnable barricade raised here in the last 10 years against measures for the interest of millions of people, including "labor."

Now that there seems finally a chance to penetrate that barricade, only if a little bit here and there, to get through a few much-needed bills—housing, education, health, increased minimum wage, modification of the harsh Taft-Hartley Law—Those who are working earnestly at this, as they have been for years, suddenly become evil "labor bosses."

It's very queer tactics, though understandable, to anyone who knows the facts about national politics and forces operating in it.

To get at the real problem involved, it is necessary to go back to the "labor bosses" to the millions of individuals who work daily in the greatest industrial machine the world ever has seen. They may be set apart as some sinister element called "labor," but they are just people, good Americans, who live in your neighborhood, work hard to make ends meet and put their children through school and pay their doctor bills, and who help to make all your comforts and conveniences as well as necessities.

The basic economic fact of today is that these millions must be kept at their jobs and at good wages if the democratic capitalism that we have struggled so to build up is to operate successfully, for that depends

We congratulate the Pitchfork staff on that achievement. Indeed, we congratulate all the winners in the GSPA contests.

But we must raise our journalistic hat just a little higher to those folks up under the shadow of the Kennesaw Mountain. They took not only The Constitution cup but four other firsts. And their editor copped the top honor for best editorial of the year.

That is a high batting average in any contest league.

The Georgia Scholastic Press Association is doing fine work by inspiring in young people an interest in journalism. If the future of the Fourth Estate in Georgia rests on the shoulders of our youth, then there is ample evidence that it is on a pretty good foundation.

upon putting enough into the pockets of our people constantly to buy what they produce.

Twenty years ago our system broke down temporarily because we failed to recognize that basic fact in our still new industrial economy. Out of our awakening, among other things, came the organization of labor to protect itself, so it could live, and out of that came leaders to represent working men and women and handle their problems. Just as the same sort of leaders arose in business and industry.

It is a humanitarian thing to provide for our people. But that doesn't have to be considered at all. It is a hard-boiled necessity of economics, just plain good business. Big "bosses" on the industrial management side, some of whom complain so about the "labor bosses," should be thankful that labor organization has come along, as a great many of them are. It has done much for them, as for all of us. They are doing nicely. We owe them much, too, for their skill and "know-how." But they didn't do it all themselves and they can't keep it going themselves. Some of them seem to think so.

That appears to be the attitude, too, of some in one of our great political parties, the Republican Party, judging from what goes on in Congress. If that attitude continues to be to "punish" something called "labor" and some legendary Frankenstein "labor bosses," it can be forecast that the Republican Party never will win another election and will pass away.

It Will Be A Calm Summer

Lying in my hammock Sunday afternoon watching my bees come and go from the near-by hives, I tried to analyze a feeling of relief which pervaded my mind. It wasn't due to the success of an experiment. Asked to spend the weekend in the mountains, and unable to go, a program to turn the backyard lawn and flowerbeds into an isolated mountain retreat had worked well. By ignoring the telephone and pretending its occasional peeling was merely the quarreling clamor of distant jays, it worked very well.

Almost at once it came to me. Sunday was really the first day on which the heat of Summer lay heavily upon us, and I realized that the subconscious feeling of relief derived from the fact that, however hot the Summer might be, it would contain no State-wide political campaign. The radios will be filled with the usual sounds of without sound and fury. There will be no booming sound of breasts being beaten by the Tarzans of the political jungle. The Summer will be left to produce its own sounds, birds that sing and bees that hum, and automobiles which screech around curves in the early hours of the morning as youth has its fling.

Speculation While there will be no campaign, as such, there will be speculation and the air will be so filled with trial balloons as to start another wave of flying saucer stories. There are a good many attorneys of ability who feel that the State Constitution does not allow Gov. Herman Talmadge again to be a candidate. On the other side are many, equally as able, who believe he can be.

The constitutional provisions are ambiguous. Roy Harris, chairman of the committee which drew up the Constitution, says, "The language is mine. We on the committee simply didn't dream of such a situation as now exists. Therefore, we made no provision for it. The situation is unusual and likely will never happen again. But, the fact is, we didn't anticipate it."

Plans This loophole leaves the Governor's position open to considerable argument. Gov. Talmadge has not announced his plans. It is very likely he hasn't made up his own mind. There is speculation he will run against Sen. Walter F. George, whose term expires next year, but this is doubtful, as of now Gov. Talmadge would be extremely unwise, even if he knew what he was doing, to do so to a year or two, to express it publicly or confidentially. Best guess is, as of now, he will again be a candidate for Governor . . . unless the courts rule against him.

If he is eliminated by the courts, they probably will also rule out M. E. Thompson, who served as Acting Governor for two years, and who has told so many persons in confidence that he intends to try again the news is in the public domain.

Trials Three trial balloons have already been sent up. The first was by Judge "Red" Townsend, of Dade County. It met with dead calm. There were no winds to blow it here and there for all to see. State Attorney General Eugene Cook was next. His balloon fared somewhat better, but still created no great excitement. This is at least partially explained by the fact the people are not yet interested in politics, but have a negative, anti-political attitude toward all politicians. This is true of the Governor himself, for example. Attorney General Cook has a following and his balloon is the most substantial yet to go up. Third to be loosed was that by State Treasurer George Hamilton. It has had an almost dead-calm reception to date. Mr. Hamilton, who came to Georgia from Pennsylvania in the days of the old Ku Klux Klan, has been very successful in getting elected State Treasurer across a goodly span of years. How he will fare in a race with issues (the State Treasurer's campaign rarely has any) will be interesting to watch, in the event he actually runs.

There will be others. Former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson has loosed his in private, telling a few friends in hotel lobbies of his intention, but the balloon, still bounding around the ceilings of the hotel lobbies, has not yet been exposed to the elements, including even the historic "better element." Roy Harris will be a candidate only in the event Gov. Talmadge isn't.

It might be well to suggest to one and all concerned that, before they board the political train, it is a good idea to have the fare.

The Fare Getting money to be elected Governor costs too much in any State. In Georgia it has come to be the chief source of our political troubles. The recent campaign for Governor cost an estimated $500,000, more or less, with the Thompson campaign reportedly slightly more expensive than the other.

About 90 percent of those who contribute to campaigns expect a heavy profit in return. Most of those who give in the amounts of $5,000 expect in return what amounts to a license to steal. It is no exaggeration to say, on the basis of actual case histories, that some of those who in bygone years have contributed as much as $5,000 have made $100,000.

Prey It is a sad but true fact that many businessmen consider the State legitimate prey and actually become angry when there is any resistance to their plans to turn a political contribution into a huge and unearned profit.

Whatever the faults of the Talmadge administration, it is honestly bolstered in two key positions, the purchasing agent, William George, and the Revenue Commissioner, Charlie Redwine. That both are occasionally victimized by pressures may be assumed. But at least they are honest and try to give the State a dollar's worth for the tax money. What they are up against is the system of purchasing whereby the State seems always forced to buy at the highest prices. But their most difficult job is holding firm against those who consider the State and its revenues as legitimate prey.

How we can reduce, or eliminate, this evil of the cost of getting elected, I do not know. There seems to be no answer. So, I would advise the boys who have balloons to send up, to be sure they have the fare.

Outlook for New Labor Law

WASHINGTON—The crowing over President Truman's troubles with labor legislation is singularly premature. The President is certainly not going to induce the Congress to bring back the old Wagner Act days, as he rather unconsciously says he desires. But the chances are now excellent that he will get a new labor law severely diluting the Taft-Hartley Act, and probably expunging that controversial name from the statute books. His victory will not be total, but he has good hopes of victory.

One sign was the recent defeat of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, and the humiliating recommendation of their just-passed Wood Bill to the House Labor Committee. This means there is far more support for moderate labor legislation in the House than most observers had supposed.

Main Bout What is more important still, most observers are also forgetting that the main issue of struggle will be the Senate. There is every reason why the Senate's preferences on labor legislation should eventually prevail over those of the House. The House Labor Committee, from which House conferees will be drawn, is in majority pro-labor. Thus the House participants in the future conference committee are likely to approve diluting the Taft-Hartley Act, and actions favorable to the labor groups. And while the extremists will complain, there is not much doubt that the House as a whole will accept the resulting conference report.

This is looking far into the future, considering that neither House nor Senate has taken final action as yet. But the House outlook, after recommitment of the Wood Bill, is for compromise. And in the Senate a curious, complex and hard to disentangle situation has arisen which, despite all its confusions, also seems to promise an exceedingly moderate labor law.

Status Very briefly, the wholehog, Truman-sponsored bill, repealing the Taft-Hartley Act outright, is now before the Senate, having been reported by a majority of the Senate Labor Committee. Also before the Senate is the recently presented report of the Labor Committee minority, headed by Sen. Robert A. Taft. This recommends a middle ground between the Taft-Hartley Act and the Thomas Bill. But even this middle ground represents a long retreat from Sen. Taft's former position.

What is most striking about the minority report, however, is the absence from it of the names of Sens. Aiken, Morse and Ives, Aiken, of Vermont, and Morse, of Oregon, are both Republican members of the Labor Committee. Ives, of New York, is the most respected Republican authority on labor legislation. The plain fact is that Sen. Taft wanted few things more than to have these progressive Republicans marching side by side with him in this struggle over labor policy. His real objective, in fact, was to prepare a Taft-Ives bill, and the minority report he has now presented is his substitute for the bill he wanted to offer. Another plain fact is that the three progressive Republican Senators did not want to be Sen. Taft's comrades-in-arms. Hence the present oddly complicated legislative picture.

Meanwhile, there is a political moral in this situation. Only two years ago, the republic was supposed to be in danger if a statute less strong than the Taft-Hartley Act by one jot or one tittle was even considered for a moment. The Act had a great deal to do with the Republican defeat, which surely brought to happiness to the business community that demanded such strong labor legislation. And now the Taft-Hartley Act is going down the drain. The moral is: "Be moderate, even when you're on top, because some day, you won't be."

'Every Day Is Labor Day'

BUENOS AIRES—"Every day is Labor Day in Argentina."

That was one employer's reaction to St. Peron Day, the extra holiday which the Argentine President this week granted the nation's workers. And he was not alone in his thinking. In the past two years Argentine workers, once as dogmatically exploited as any in the world, have won concession after concession until today the Argentine industries in which wages have not doubled or trebled since 1945. And, in most instances, it has been by government decree rather than old-fashioned methods like negotiation.

But it is not in the field of wages that Argentine labor has made its greatest gains. The Government has set up regulation after regulation aimed at greater job security and employee benefits. As a consequence the Argentine worker now probably has more protection—and his employer less—than his counterpart anywhere else on the globe.

He gets, by Government order, a month's bonus from his employer as a Christmas present. His ever-lengthening vacations and sick-leave benefits are prescribed by law. And, after the first month, he cannot be fired except for willful damage to his employer's business and even then he must be given at least six months' severance pay.

These extra remunerations have been heaped upon him whether he asked them or not. A case in evidence is that of the workers in the "frigorificos," or meat-packing plants. These recently asked, reportedly for bargaining purposes, a 40 percent salary increase. The Ministry of Labor not only granted the increase, but also other considerations estimated to augment their remuneration by an additional 25 percent. The already hard-pressed packers, whose prices are fixed by law, threw up their hands. Either they had been allowed to raise the price of their products, they said, or else they would have to close down. The Government, which could ill afford to have either happen, has reportedly offered a subsidy to offset the 30,000,000-peso monthly loss the packers claim the new wage scale will mean.

Uncertain Medical Service

Editor Constitution: Just today we were again reminded of the uncertain medical service existing in Athens. Our neighbor's child was sick with fever early this morning and she and her husband tried desperately to reach a doctor—without success. By 5 p. m. the child, a one-year-old, suffered from a convulsion—(they had first called for a doctor at 7 a. m.)—still no doctor could be reached. . . . You see, Thursday afternoon is EVERY doctor's afternoon off. They undoubtedly think people can't become ill on this afternoon, so instead of staggering their time off, they ALL leave.

As a last attempt our neighbors called the University infirmary and the medico in charge was kind enough to leave the hordes of waiting patients to see if he could help. He offered the best advice he could, but told them to keep trying to get the baby doctor, as he was unfamiliar with her sickness. By 5:30 p. m. the little girl had still another convulsion—and still no doctor. They rushed her to the hospital and were fortunate to find the house doctor on the premises, where she was finally treated.

With all fairness to the hordes of students who crowd together in Athens, and with due honor to their respectful positions, we would like to see the doctors awakened to our needs.

This is but one example of the many emergencies we face without ever knowing if a doctor is available. We don't think we are unreasonable in requesting that at least a couple of doctors be available every day of the week to care for the thousands of people who depend on them in time of need.

Enough Auto Taxes

Editor Constitution: I have sent the following to State Highway Director James Gillis: I was just reading your interview about the State roads. I suppose you would be interested in the reaction of one of the taxpayers of Georgia.

You stated that if the Georgians who wanted better roads or complained of the roads were to get them, they would have to pay for them. It is my opinion that the average person complaining about the roads would be the automobile owner. I do not see how the State could ask the car owner to pay any more taxes than he does already to have decent roads for his automobile to run on.

If the State gets over $40,000,000 a year from the car owner for gasoline tax alone, not to say anything for his auto license tag or the tax he pays the County and State for owning an automobile, are we still not paying enough for our roads to be better? If not I am wondering what it would take.

I know the schools have to be taken care of,

but I also believe there are other sources of revenue. All I believe the average car owner is asking for is to give him something he has paid for already, not ask him to pay more for something he is not getting.

I am not criticizing you, Mr. Gillis, for the job you're doing. I know you're limited as to what you can do. However, I deal with the public every day in my business and they know they have a right to complain about the roads of Georgia and without paying any more taxes.

Chamblee. LAMAR J. HYDE.

Let's Remedy This

Editor Constitution: If the people of the State are really interested in better government, they will heed what Attorney General Cook says, namely, that the tax collecting agencies of the State should be on the merit system, and that the State have the authority to raise assessments that are too low. There is no reason and no excuse for our haphazard assessment and collection of taxes. No one can logically oppose fair and equal evaluation of property; throughout the State.

Let's request our representatives now to take action along this line next January.

College, Ga. E. R. BRADLEY.

Missing Too Much

Editor Constitution: The sun of education is fast sinking as the tide of public thought grows more sluggish. Clouds and mists crown Georgia's outlook on learning's hills and darkened ways with no true guide to lead. While the voter-gods are sleeping, we first make appeal to the solons and chief executive to guard and encourage the youth who are heaving this defeat.

They are missing many a chance modern children can't afford to miss and will come out of the vain school years like wanderers with "the sun gone down" and the dark ignorance of modern fundamentals of learning over them. They will be like that wanderer of long ago with a stone for a pillow, when with reasonable sacrifice and planning we voters could have given them the green-meadows-and-still-waters of truth.

They're Awaiting the Next Rush

MIAMI—The night before I left the mountain to come down here to do a piece on that most fabulous of institutions, the University of Miami, I was sitting out on the porch in the soft darkness, thinking of how nice it would be if I could just stay there in that quiet spot awhile, instead of getting all tangled up in the hectic whirling of this great resort city. I remembered the rush of cars on Biscayne Boulevard, and the blowing of horns, and the ceaseless yammer, yammer, yammer of the crowds on the streets, and I didn't look forward to the journey with any happiness. From the cabin porch there was nothing to see but the great deep shadow of the old mountain brooding over across the valley, and nothing to hear but the little noises of the night that sing to the heart.

Down by the pond the frogs were chucking, and all around in the dark of the woods the tree frogs were singing their tiny ceaseless song, and now and then some night bird, whose name and voice I did not know, would call sweetly out of the dark.

And every once in a while all the lonely night would suddenly become still. And I would sit and listen and listen, far over on the shoulder of the mountain the tiny lights of a car would appear, speeding along the flanks of the hill, the lights flashing on and off as it passed through cuts and over hills. Then when it was gone the night would come alive again with the myriad voices of little creatures whose ears are keener far than human ears, and who pause in their own song to listen to every strange intruding sound.

Sometimes when these moments of stillness would come there would be no car to appear in explanation of the sudden silence. Then, out in the gloom of the yard a stray dog would go snuffling by, ranging the woods on affairs of his own, and in time all the hillside would quieten until he, too, was gone.

And I wanted to stay there, in the darkness of the hills, in the silence and the peace. But I needn't have fretted myself so much. Miami is about as quiet now as the heart of the mountains, comparatively speaking. Most of the sun-burned thousands have made their raucous way back North. On the boulevards, where the cars once moved in honking shoals, only a few move now. The hotel lobbies are quiet, the streets are thinly populated.

Pleasure spots from which the sounds of revelry once rose to make the night hideous are now closed or closing, and Miami is enjoying that brief moment of relaxation, like a family that kicks its shoes off and settles down with a sigh when the company has finally gone.

Pretty soon a new rush will begin, from the South this time, as the Latin Americans make their annual migration to Miami for the Summer. But right now there is a certain peace and tranquility here and the people who live here the year round are nice and kind and friendly and unharmed.

And the other night, on a quiet street in Coral Gables, I heard a sound I never thought I'd hear within a 100 miles of Miami. Through the darkness from the palms that waved outside the window came the voice of a dweller in far and lonely places, the quivering, tremulous cry, bless goodness, of a whippoorwill.

FRED OTHMAN

Song of a Nylon Shirt and Synthetics

WASHINGTON—There is a United States Senator who owns a nylon shirt. Every night he washes it out personally in his bathroom and hangs it up on a coat hanger to dry. He doesn't have to iron it the next morning and consequently never knows off any buttons.

"It is supposed to last forever," added Sen. George D. Aiken, of Vermont, who told about his thrifty colleague, but carefully neglected to mention his name. "And what I want to know is when this gets popular, what is that going to do to the shirt industry?"

Rep. Frank B. Keefe, of Wisconsin, who still wears a cotton shirt, said he didn't much care. Nylon in large part is made of coal, but so, said he, is the synthetic lard and milk that some bakers are putting into bread. That's what's worrying him.

Maybe these chemicals are nourishing. He doesn't know. But the way things are going now he said it may not be long before a citizen, exactly as in the science comic strips, eats his breakfast dinner in the form of one small pill.

"Maybe science will prove these pills will be better for us," he said. "Maybe that's progress. But what it's going to do to the economics of this country I can't even imagine."

What it's already done to the fats and oils business since the war, he continued, is a revelation. Two chemical firms that he knows about last year sold more than 10,000,000 pounds of synthetic emulsifiers and softeners to the manufacturers of food.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette, of Iowa, wondered what food? Rep. Keefe mentioned bread, cake, peanut butter, candy, and ice cream. He said there undoubtedly were others.

"And what are these chemicals made of?" demanded Sen. Aiken.

"Mostly from coal, petroleum and natural gas," Rep. Keefe replied. "I have tried to look into the methods, but I felt my head swimming every time I looked into the chemical processes. It is very complicated."

In Europe, he continued, the chemists have turned gas into oleomargarine of excellent flavor. They haven't done that here yet, but he said they might. Fact is, he said, they're doing about the same thing now with their synthetic ingredients of bread.

The gentleman from Wisconsin added that the Food and Drug Administration even now was trying to look into the effect on human beings of these chemicals, but that little had been seen about the proceedings in the newspapers. He said this was because the evidence was so technical, and much of it so new even to science, that no ordinary chemist could understand the evidence. "So you can't expect any newspaperman, no matter how conscientiously he tries, to write about it," he added.

Rep. Keefe said he intended to introduce a bill calling for an investigation of coal and gas in food to be conducted by Congressmen. They should be able to keep things on a level a reporter can decipher, and I, therefore, intend to be on hand when the lawgivers pry open their first peanut butter jar.

Wilbur La Rue, Jr., the Washington representative of the independent meat packers, said it wasn't only the hocus-pocus foods that were ruining the fats and oils industry, but also the synthetic soaps that many housewives now use to cleanse their dishes, teeth and hair.

These detergents have replaced about one-third of the fats and oils that used to go into soap. This has resulted in huge surpluses, sagging prices and a situation he called demoralizing. What Congress can do about this is problematical. And I don't suppose I ever will discover what that unnamed Senator uses to rinse out his nylon shirt.

have been stimulated to touch off one or more disasters.

A boy threw a stone at another boy to start the terrible Chicago riot. The loss to the Giants certainly was petty by comparison with the possibilities which Chandler undoubtedly had in mind. And Durocher had contributed to his own trouble by the misconduct which over many years had earned him a bad reputation.

The profession of journalism earned no glory in covering this incident, for the public learned only by seepage and deduction, and only after several days, that the queasy euphemisms, "Puerto Rican" and "a fan of Puerto Rican descent," were code intimations intended to convey simple information which was legitimate news that all the people, white and colored, had a right to. There is no taint of dishonor in the word, and colored men of good character are proud to be Negroes. And it is no more a reflection on the race to say that an ill-behaved individual is a Negro than it is a reflection on the Caucasians to say that Hitler was a white man. Nevertheless, many newspapers, in a timid surrender to "pressure," and now, apparently, some press associations, too, have defaulted their duty in deciding not to use the word as a description of wanted criminals.

In this dangerous episode the whole story lay in the fact that the fellow described as a "Puerto Rican" had gone to the ground making a dramatic pretense of mistreatment and injury at the hands of a white man in a Negro neighborhood with an overplus of low saloons and other dives and the trash that frequent them. Every respectable Harlem Negro knows and will freely admit that the decent colored people of the region suffer badly from the criminal element, which is out of proportion to the total population by comparison with white neighborhoods.

The sudden emotional furor in favor of Durocher merely because, for once, he was innocent is misleading. He earned his bad reputation, and his restraint this year is contrary to his character and probably will not last. The Yankees released him and the other clubs were strangely willing to let him get out of the American League early in his career on the pretext that he couldn't hit American League pitching. This pitching was no better or worse than National League pitching and the true reason why the American League let go one of the best hitters of his time was a clubhouse secret not too closely held.

Nevertheless, Chandler was right in ordering the Giants, and other clubs, to tighten their policing to protect not only the players but offending citizens in the seats from the filthy language of the lowest trash. That kind should be thrown out, of course, but, moreover, should be prosecuted, or there will be no effect.

Baseball is not in such fine condition that it can stand this conduct. The minor leagues are finding it hard to fill their uniforms these days and the majors will find it more and more a problem to fill their stands.

Hasn't She Ever Heard of a Reducing Diet?

Atlanta Joins Growing List

(In Valdosta Times)

Atlanta has joined Valdosta and a number of other Georgia cities in adopting legislation that makes it illegal to wear masks in public. This is a growing tendency that shows that the people of our State are not in sympathy with groups that go about with their identity hidden.

In Atlanta, as in Valdosta, there were threats when the antimask ordinance was proposed. But members of the Atlanta City Council, just as was the case in Valdosta, were not terrorized and they moved promptly to pass the ordinance.

IN VALDOSTA when it became known that the antimask ordinance was about to be introduced some veiled threats were passed around, but City Council acted without fear and put the legislation on the books.

At the session of the Georgia Legislature early this year a bill was introduced to make the wearing of masks in public illegal in all parts of the State. After a bitter fight the bill was defeated. John Greer, member of the House from Lanier County, sponsored the bill and fought valiantly for its adoption.

At the time Mr. Greer warned the House that it would regret its action in defeating the measure. Somehow, I believe that his warning is now bearing fruit, since our State has had a number of unfortunate happenings since the House refused to take favorable action.

On a number of occasions this space has been devoted to saying that the Klan has no place in our civilized community. As a result, I have received several telephone calls and one or two letters which contained the suggestion that maybe I had better "lay off" and have nothing more to say about the Klan and its activities.

A SENSE of decency and right and fairness urges that I once more condemn the Klan.

I am unable to see how any organization can justify its existence when it goes about wearing masks and burning crosses and otherwise attempting to intimidate a large segment of our people. Clearly the Klan is in the minority in Valdosta as it is elsewhere in Georgia and all over the country.

Atlanta is to be commended for the action of its Council. Let's hope that the Georgia Legislature in its next session will act fearlessly and adopt legislation that will make the wearing of masks illegal all over the State.

"We're NOT going to leave our card, Belnap! ... I wouldn't give them the satisfaction of knowing they avoided us..."

BOB CONSIDINE

There's Still Time in China

NEW YORK—Death will come to Archbishop Paul Yu-pin, the huge, pleasant, learned Chinese prelate, if he returns to China, his anxious friends keep telling him. But he plans to go back later this month.

The spiritual leader and educator of 5,000,000 Chinese Catholics is rated No. 2 on the most recent list of "war criminals" released by the Chinese Reds. His friend, Chiang Kai-shek, is No. 1.

He has thought a bit about the counsel of his friends, he told us the other night at a downtown restaurant as he tucked a napkin in his clerical collar and delicately went to work on a piece of duck. It is not a new threat in the life of the vigorous scholar who recently flew to Rome to give Pius XII a first-hand account of the collapse in China. The Japs had a $500,000 (American) price on his head during their occupation of his homeland.

"BUT NOT to return would be another way of telling the Chinese that they have lost this new war for survival," he said. "Their morale is low enough as it is. I must do my bit to show them that all is not lost. With a lifting of morale, a handful of American officers and, in time, the kind of supplies the U. S. will give to Atlantic Pact countries, China can still win. That's a fact that is being tragically overlooked here."

"We don't ask for American soldiers," he went on. "If there is one thing in which we are a bountiful country it is manpower. So many Chinese troops have lost faith in their commanders, but though the Communists have spread an enormous amount of propaganda against the Americans the Chinese still feel that with American officers plotting their battles they could win."

I asked him about his personal danger again. He took off his napkin, revealing a thin line of the magenta vestment beneath his coat, and thought before he replied.

"It won't be easy for them to find me," he said. "They have seized or destroyed several of the newspapers and schools and farms for displaced people that I formed, and of course, my home in Peking. But I am more nimble."

"I know one thing: If they do catch me, I won't be another Cardinal Mindszenty. I don't want to be that kind of a hero. I will go quickly, but not by suicide. That is against my belief. There are many good men to take my place if I go."

BUT THE archbishop, who was the youngest Catholic bishop in the world at the time of his consecration, is not sure that his death—if it comes—will be the work of Communists.

"Those of us who have devoted much of our lives to strengthening Chinese-American relations are in danger of death at the hands of the good people to whom we appealed," he said with a trace of a smile. "The Generalissimo and Madame Chiang, who is a noble woman, and I—to name a few—have long told our people that their great friend is the United States. The United States, we assured the people, would not let this or that happen to China. But now ..."

The archbishop shrugged, and a friend at the table added what he did not choose to add: That Gen. Marshall's "truce" had enabled the beaten Reds to redeploy that there never was a chance of achieving the American desire for a coalition government in China, that shipments of U. S. supplies to China were held up, that Communists have exploited ably the stories of graft in Chiang's government.

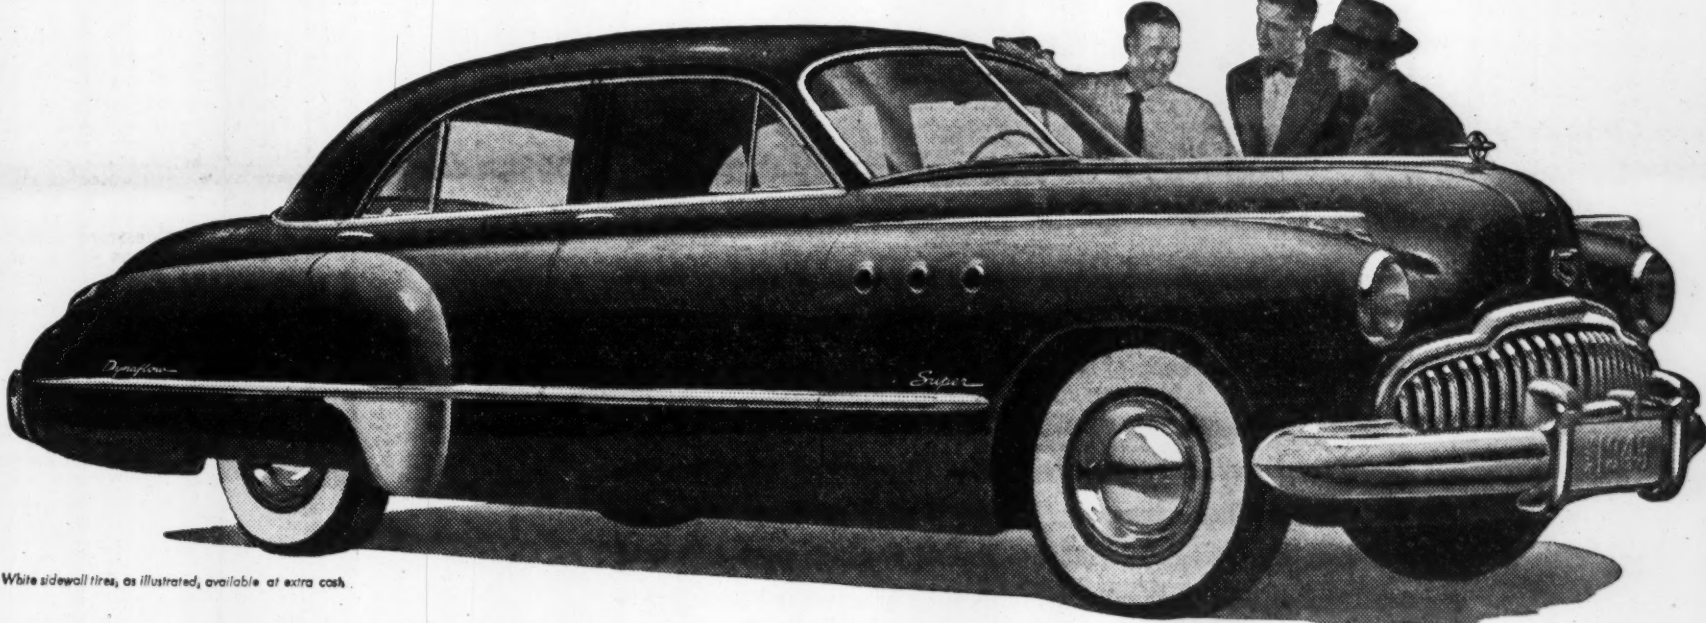

"AMERICA has been kind in many ways to China," the archbishop cut in, gently but firmly. "But its present policy toward my country, if it is a policy, is shortsighted. It daily watches our people pushed back and presumes there is no fight left in them. There is. It watches a great landmass taken and hopes, perhaps, that Gen. Mao will be another Tito."

"He won't be, but if he is he'll be killed and replaced by a party-liner."

"It watches untold areas rich in natural resources fall into the hands of an enemy of all free people, including northern uranium deposits far richer than those of the Belgian Congo."

"And your big businessmen are short-sighted, too, in assuming they can do business-as-usual with the Reds. In such a short time they will find it impossible. In such a short time, through force and propaganda, we could find China an enemy of its old friend, America, a tragedy too terrible to visualize."

The archbishop worked with his napkin again for a bit. Then he smiled and said, "We have spoken of many unpleasant things. Will you have a beer? ... But please remember that there is still time. Still time."

Ford Talks Resume Today On Bid From Reuther

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Peace talks in the five-day Ford strike have been set for today.

Walter Reuther, President of the CIO United Auto Workers, appealed personally late yesterday to Henry Ford, II, President of the Ford Motor Company, to reopen negotiations for settlement of the issue raised by the union's speed-up charges. Ford accepted.

However, the auto firm head declined Reuther's invitation to debate their differences in a baseball park before the 65,000 striking workers in the event no settlement is reached by Friday. And Ford said he would not attend the conference personally.

Reuther's proposal was the first peace move by either of the disputing parties since the talks seeking to avert the walkout ended last Thursday with the walkout.

LINER LAGUARDIA OFF FOR NEW YORK

MOBILE, Ala.—(AP)—The nation's newest passenger liner—the 18,000-ton LaGuardia—sailed from Mobile on a four-day shakedown cruise to New York yesterday.

Harbor whistles shrieked a final salute as the newly converted vessel, one of the largest ever to enter Mobile Bay, left to join the U. S. merchant fleet.

Dearborn, Mich., have offered their aid in mediating the Company and Union differences. The Ford chief, however, rejected the offers.

He contends the Union's contention of a speedup on one of the plant assembly lines at River Rouge should be submitted to arbitration. The Union has rejected arbitration.

There was no immediate Company comment on Reuther's proposals.

Elsewhere, 47,600 auto industry employees returned to work after interruptions. Hudson recalled 25,000 laid off last week by a shortage of brakes; Briggs Manufacturing Company solved a small walkout which had idled 16,800 employees, and Chrysler resumed operations at Plymouth, Mich., where 5,800 had been laid off by a shortage of car bodies from the Briggs plant.

However, Chrysler announced an indefinite layoff of 22,000 employees, effective last night, because of a shortage of car windows. Chrysler said a labor dispute over company slowdown charges at Motor Products Corporation had cut off the supply.

About 950 workers at three National Carbon Company plants walked out after expiration of the firm's contract with the CIO United Chemical Workers. The Union said six issues remain unsettled.

A new contract was ratified by two locals of the CIO United Electrical Workers sending 6,500 workers back to 21 plants and warehouses of the Philco Corporation after a week-long stoppage.

Florida School Bill Stymied After Flare-Up in House

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—(AP)—A no-decision vocal fight over the $100,000,000 school bill flared up on the House floor yesterday.

When it was all over matters were just as they were when Rep. Shepperd, of St. Johns County, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, suggested in a letter to the Education Committee it recall the bill and make some revisions.

The education group had replied in effect then: "Nothing doing."

Rep. Shepperd got up on a point of personal privilege and said he had been branded by a flood of letters and telegrams—"mostly inspired"—the "Big Bad Wolf" who would destroy the educational system of our State.

Shepperd said he was not going to be intimidated by the "Educational Department downstairs."

Explaining he was proud of the progress Florida schools had made under the 1947 Foundation School Law, Shepperd said, however, he didn't see how the State could "branch out into fields not yet taken on."

Rep. Wotitzky, of Charlotte, Chairman of the education group, told Shepperd, "it is not true" that the House bill would bring in "a lot of new phases and a lot of new expenses."

Wotitzky said there was only one new wrinkle which would cost $400 per school unit for construction. Now the State puts up $300 and the counties $100.

This proposal would amount to most of the $3,700,000 increase over the $96,000,000 recommended by the State Department of Education.

In the exchange of letters Shepperd had suggested to Wotitzky the Education Committee whack out the proposed State's $400 payment for school construction, funds for kindergartens and Summer schools and reduction or elimination of the supervisory program.

Bus Operators' Earnings*

1939 - - $148 a Month

1949 - - $312 a Month

During the past ten years the earnings of Atlanta's trolley and bus operators have shown a large increase. In 1939 the average earnings of regular operators were $148 a month, or $34 a week. In 1949 the average earnings have been $312 a month, or $72 a week. That's an increase of 111 per cent.

In 1939 the base wage rate was 70 cents an hour. In 1949 it has been $1.31 an hour, an increase in 10 years of 87 per cent. Weekly earnings have increased faster than base wage rates because during the 10-year period the transit workers have obtained many advantages in "fringe" payments which increased their take-home pay.

Of course, the cost of living has also gone up in the 10-year period. However, it has not gone up as fast as operators' earnings or wage rates. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics the increase in the cost of living in Atlanta now is 70 per cent above the 1935-1939 average. This means that the standard of living of these transit men has greatly improved.

*Average earnings of full-time regular operators taken from actual payroll records for the year 1939 and from an analysis of a recent payroll period in 1949.

This Strike Affects You Now and in the Future

This strike not only causes you inconvenience now but it will have serious effects on your service in the future. The transit system is permanently losing riders as a result of the strike. Each day it lasts more and more people are finding other means of transportation and many of them will never return to the trolleys and buses. This is the known result of every transit strike.

This loss of riders will result in curtailed service for you and fewer jobs for transit workers, and perhaps a higher fare.

LET'S SEE NOW

Loud and Clear--Georgia's 'Voice of America'

By DORIS LOCKERMAN
Constitution Associate Editor

You could really say it was the Voice of America, the young clear, real Voice of America the women from Germany were hearing Saturday night. "We nominate Eleanor Bowman, of Blakely, for her outstanding citizenship. She prepared special meals for her little brother, ill with rheumatic fever, and contrived new games to keep him happy and quiet. . . . planned her family's Christmas with games and food and gifts. . . . waited on two neighboring old people, taking them to church and ministering to their needs. . . . she is a leader in athletics, clubs, scholarship. . . ."

"We nominate Sybil Compton, of Jean McEachern School. She has led in all school activities, and is known as the spark to our town's campaigns for money. She has worked at home, helping her mother in every way and setting out on her own to make improvements. She is an 'A' student, of course. . . ."

"We nominate Rayma Jean Tyson, of Statesboro. She is almost a byword in our town. Everybody says 'Rayma can do it,' and Rayma does it. She does everything. She sews, and you should have seen the dresses her little sister wore in a fashion revue recently. She cooks and cans and gardens—she is a good athlete, a good loser, and a good student."

It was the "sister members" of the Eleanors and Sybils and Rayma Jeans who were displaying their jewels of character before more than 300 fellow members of the Future Homemakers of America.

In the audience were Mrs. Kathe Blau, Superintendent of Home Economics in Berlin, and Miss Margharita von Putthamer, Home Economist from Stuttgart, visiting Georgia to learn how one of the States of a great Union operates, and they were witnessing one of the most thrilling performances to be seen in Georgia.

Surrounding them were high schoolgirl leaders from all over the State, as dewy and fresh as the flowers in their hair in their pastel evening dresses, gathered in one room of the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia for the closing banquet session of their annual conference and the awarding of scholarships and installation of new officers.

Their manners were sure and easy. They polished off huge plates of fried chicken, butter beans, carrots, salad, and then, one by one, they stood to take their own moment of shy glory. Of course, not all of them were recognized, but there were many called to rise in that company dedicated to the development of every girl, in some useful path of citizenship.

The visitors from occupied Germany, obviously hungering for more than food, saw a smooth girl from Vienna, Ga., maneuver a closing session through the treacherous currents of parliamentary procedure with grace; heard students from Abraham Baldwin College lead the others in glad, loud, cheering song, and they must have noticed that neither Mrs. Janet Barber, Miss Inez Wallace, Dr. M. D. Mobley or Dr. M. D. Collins, their directors, moved a finger to direct the proceedings. There was flattery and praise in their assurance that the evening was in competent young hands.

It was a good thing for the German women to see, and they said so later.

"Our young people," ventured Miss Von Putthamer, "are not so happy today. They are . . . depressed. They do not lead. They do not even follow very well." She flashed a quick smile of hope. "But I think they will be happier later, if they learn again how to look to the future."

For more than the German visitors, the Future Homemakers of Georgia are a lesson to learn.

The schools of Georgia need money and buildings and support. But they are turning out thousands of girls and boys better equipped to take over the job of selling education than their parents before them.

SALLY FORTH Says: Farewell Parties To Fete Atlantans Going to Europe

The social calendar these days is filled with farewell parties for Atlantans who have booked passage for a Summer's travel in Europe. For instance, there is the luncheon at which Mrs. John D. Goodloe will entertain today at her home on Putnam Drive in compliment to Mrs. W. J. Hobbs, who leaves the last of this week for New York, whence she will sail for the continent.

Accompanying Mrs. Hobbs will be her husband, who, incidentally, is President of the Coca-Cola Company, and their sons, Bill, who is 19, and six-year-old Tommy.

This evening Mrs. Joseph Winship and her sisters, Misses Veola and Marie Parks, will be cohostesses at a buffet supper and bridge as a farewell gesture to Mr. and Mrs. F. Graham Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Croom Partridge, who will sail on May 28 on the Queen Elizabeth. Though they have been good friends for a number of years, it was only last week that Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Partridge discovered they were sailing on the same boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will leave Atlanta May 21, going first to Boston and later to visit their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cook, in Bennington, Vt. They will board the Queen Elizabeth before midnight of the 27th, and will land in Southampton. They plan to join a party in London for a 10-day sight-seeing tour of England and Scotland and, before returning home the last of June, they will visit Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland and France.

Other farewell parties for them include Mrs. Hugh Howell's luncheon today at the Athletic Club for Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harmon's bridge party on Saturday evening, the bridge party at which Mr. and Mrs. George Hoyt and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Blackshear will entertain next Tuesday evening, and the bridge party at which Mr. and Mrs. George Beattie will be hosts on Wednesday evening.

Last evening Dr. and Mrs. T. Bolling Gay entertained at dinner and bridge, and on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Odis Poundstone were dinner hosts in their honor.

Junior League To End Year in Gala Fashion

Though the Atlanta Junior League swapped horses in mid-stream, so to speak, when Mrs. Henry Joyner, the newly elected President, moved away to New York last Fall, Mrs. Ed Smith, her successor, has carried the League through the year with flying colors. And now she plans to close her regime in a different fashion from that of former presidents.

Instead of the May meeting—the last of the year until Autumn—which heretofore has taken the form of a luncheon or dinner with husbands and dates of members invited, there will be a cocktail party and tea from 5 to 7 o'clock on the terrace of the Driving Club on May 25. Russ Carlisle's famous orchestra will come from New York to play for the gala occasion.

Mrs. Martin Kilpatrick is in charge of arrangements, and the hors d'oeuvre tables will be decorated by Mrs. McKee Nunnally and Mrs. Charles Willis, who are as adept at flower arranging as they are at interior decorating.

From Generation To Generation

Of all of the handsome wedding presents that Virginia Templin and her fiancé, Dr. James H. Gailey, Jr., have received, none has pleased them quite so much as the gift which the groom-elect's grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Gailey, of Seattle, Wash., has sent them. First, Virginia received a lovely letter from Mrs. Gailey, who, by the way, is an octogenarian, in which she enclosed a tiny key, telling her new granddaughter-to-be that she was shipping her a dozen silver knives and forks in a small chest, and that the key would open the lock. The silver, it seems, was purchased in Ireland by Dr. Gailey's great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gailey, and sent to his grandfather, Matthew Gailey, as a wedding gift.

Mrs. Gailey is planning to attend the marriage, which will be a beautiful event of Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Butterfly in Soup?

Make a butterfly for a fancy garnish on green pea soup. Use a thin piece of almond cut lengthwise for the body, narrow strips of pimiento for the antennae and thin lemon slices cut in half for the wings. Stick two whole cloves in each half slice of lemon and place the pieces on the soup with the cut side out.

WCON's Les Henrikson To Be Music Festival MC

Les Henrikson, sports director of The Constitution's radio station, WCON, has been selected to be master of ceremonies for the Greater Atlanta Music Festival, to be held in the Georgia Tech football stadium Saturday night, May 14, starting at 8 p. m.

Well known to Atlantans for his fine sports coverage and his versatility as an all-around announcer, Henrikson is a master of ad lib, and his selection as MC of the Festival assures a clear and to-the-point description of the evening's entertainment.

Especially enjoyed as the happy voice on WCON's early morning record program, Henrikson's vast audience now will have an opportunity to see him in action, and his wit should put all his hearers in good spirits.

His radio career starting in Chicago in 1937, Henrikson took a brief "vacation" from the field to serve as an interpreter for the Italian co-belligerents during the war. He was also leader of the Atlanta Ordnance Depot dance band and athletic director for the depot at Conley, Georgia.

Sponsored by The Constitution and Radio Station WCON, the Music Festival offers a varied program, including a 1,000-piece massed band, drum majorettes in a twirlers' contest, audience participation and 1,900 elementary grade children in mass color patterns.

Preliminary music for the Festival will be offered by Graham Jackson, starting at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be free.

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(P)—A veterans' bonus bill is ready for introduction in the Alabama Legislature.

Rep. A. L. McDaniel, of Walker County, said he will drop it in today when the House and Senate return from a weekend recess. It will call for a constitutional amendment.

McDaniel said his bill would pay $50 to Alabama World War II veterans with four months' service or less; $100 to those who served over four months but in the United States, and $200 to veterans who went overseas.

The North Alabama legislator said no plan has been worked out to provide the money. That will be up to the 1951 Legislature.

Daniels Declines Navy Post Offer

WASHINGTON—(P)—Friends of Jonathan Daniels said yesterday he has declined the post of Secretary of the Navy.

They said Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N. C. News and Observer, reached that decision after a weekend conference with Secretary of Defense Johnson.

An official in a position to know said Daniels gave other business commitments as the reason for being unable to accept the Navy post. Daniels was said to have discussed the matter with Mr. Truman, as well as Secretary Johnson, over the weekend.

Jersey's Hague Said Facing Election Defeat

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(UP)—Former Mayor Frank Hague, 73, the last of the old-time municipal political bosses, faces the toughest battle in his 32-year rule in today's City Commission election.

The aged boss of a weakened dynasty, who has ruled this city of 300,000 and the State Democratic machine with an iron hand since 1917, and who once declared "I am the law," wound up his campaign without his usual prediction of victory.

For the first time in 36 years, his name wasn't on the ballot. He resigned as Mayor two years ago in favor of his nephew and heir, Frank Hague Eggers. But it still was his campaign, and a defeat may oust him as State Democratic leader.

The Hague ticket was opposed by three slates of five men—the "Freedom" ticket, led by John V. Kenny, the "Smash Hague Bossism" slate headed by John R. Longo and a straight Republican ticket.

Kenny is a former Hague lieutenant who broke with the boss more than a year ago.

Simons Sings 'Zoo Blues'

City Parks Manager George Simons yesterday returned to Atlanta moaning because the City hasn't sufficient funds to build a real zoo at Grant Park. Simons said what he saw on an animal shopping tour to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and New York made him sick when he realized that Atlanta's zoo facilities are so limited. "I'm just full of ideas about development of the zoo," Simons asserted. "It always makes me a little sick to see what some other cities have when we are so parsimonious about expenditures which would make the zoo a real attraction." Simons spent about $3,500 of the $10,000 appropriated for the purchase of additional zoo animals. He expects the new purchases to arrive this week.

Bids Opened

City Council's Purchasing Committee yesterday opened bids on conversion of heating from coal to gas, planned for six branch libraries, and referred them to Smoke Bureau Director William E. Tidmore for tabulation. The branches are South Branch, Auburn Ave. (Negro), Bankhead, Luckie, Kirkwood and Moreland. The committee also bought 4,000 feet of 1½-inch fire hose from W. C. Caye Co., and authorized the City Garage to install a new automatic door and bins at a cost estimated at $1,600. Low bidder on resurfacing the Oakland City swimming pool was the Knapp Construction Company, at 15.75 cents per square foot.

Mayor Keeps Busy

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday welcomed a convention of Motion Picture Owners to Atlanta, and held two important conferences. One resulted in working out an agreement between white and Negro property owners on Moxley Pl., S. W., and the other con-

Police Release Hit-Run Suspect, Renew Search

Atlanta police released an East Point Negro arrested in connection with a fatal hit-run accident at Five Points and yesterday renewed their appeal to the public for aid in finding the motorist responsible for the death of a woman and injury to her companion.

Radio Patrol Sgt. J. P. Eaves and Ptl. J. B. Satterfield dropped a charge of suspicion of manslaughter booked against Leonard Reeves, 28, of 762 S. Bayard St., East Point.

He was being held in connection with the death of Miss Maydelle Friedman, 42, and injury of her companion, Mrs. Idah Barzelle, 49. They were struck at Five Points a week ago as they crossed Marietta Street.

Officers said they believed the death car, which may have a dented fender, proceeded on Marietta Street after the accident.

Dixiecrats Study Plank to Scrap State Income Tax

JACKSON, Miss.—(INS)—Two far-reaching resolutions which may be placed before States' Rights delegates at today's anniversary are under study.

One of the proposals would abolish a State income tax in its place a provision would be made to divide Federal income taxes on a fifty-fifty basis.

The proposal would also "prohibit Congress from appropriating money for many causes for which appropriations now are regularly made" and which the States' Rights leaders contend should be confined to the States.

The proposals, leaders said, would be accomplished by a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Representatives from Louisiana, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Texas, South Carolina, Maryland and Mississippi have made reservations to attend the session here.

Won't Recompute Delinski's Time

The State Board of Corrections yesterday (tabulation) refused to recompute the prison time already served by Randolph Delinski, convicted kidnaper.

Delinski was convicted in 1933 of kidnapping the late J. K. Otley, Atlanta banker, and 30 years. His attorney, Randall Evans, Jr., contended yesterday that if Delinski's time served were recomputed, giving him credit for good behavior, he would now be eligible for release. Delinski, however, has escaped and other infractions of rules charged against his prison record, State Director of Corrections R. E. Warren said.

Tenor Sued for Divorce

Tenor Alphonse LeFevre, of the famed LeFevre Trio, will make a personal appearance in Domestic Relations Court today to answer a divorce suit brought by his wife, Sibyl. To bolster her case the tenor's wife subpoenaed 29 witnesses, the largest number called for many a month in a divorce case.

Lively Celebration

Irwin Hunter's mother had a lively Mother's Day celebration than she bargained for, according to Fulton police records. Hunter was giving his mother a dinner party in the back yard when two neighbors, reeling with whiskey and brandishing a shotgun, arrived and broke up the party. Patrolmen Thompson and Self were told. When the officers arrived the neighbors had gone.

Dog Day

County police had dog troubles yesterday. They arrested not one but two drunks who were guarded by not one but two dogs. The first drunk went to jail and his dog was committed to the pound but after the second drunk was incarcerated the officers found both the dog pound and dog hospitals had closed and they had one forlorn pooch on their hands. They persuaded Roy Fitzgerald, local garageman, to keep an eye on the dog until his master could sober up. Meanwhile, residents of Marietta Road began feuding over whose dog bit a little girl in that section. The officers instructed all owners to lock up all dogs and concluded wearily, "We will call the pound in the morning."

Justices Hint Approval Of Army Court Test

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Supreme Court yesterday in effect invited a test of the power of Federal Courts to review the case of American civilians convicted by U. S. military courts abroad.

As it has done many times before, it refused to receive a plea for a writ of habeas corpus for an American imprisoned by the Army in Tokyo. He was convicted illegally selling whiskey and other goods to a Japanese.

A writ of habeas corpus requires that the prisoner be brought before the court so it can determine whether he was imprisoned unjustly.

Although the court denied the petition, it added to its order 15 words which court attaches regarded as an invitation for a test case.

The court said it acted "without prejudice to the right to apply to any appropriate court that may have jurisdiction."

There was no further explanation of this hint by the court. But it apparently told the American involved, Arthur Curtis Antrim Bush, to try the U. S. District Court in Washington.

All the action seemed to mean was the Supreme Court has no authority to accept Bush's petition without action by a lower bench which "may have jurisdiction."

Upholding of the Federal Courts' right to review such cases probably would bring in a flood of appeals from persons convicted by military courts abroad during the war years.

After its opinion day session, the Court heard arguments on the Government's effort to have it determine who controls submerged oil lands off the coasts of Louisiana and Texas.

The States are fighting the Justice Department's appeal for permission to file an original suit in the Supreme Court, without bringing the case up through the lower courts.

Pharmacists To Plan Meet

The Board of Directors of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association will meet at the Biltmore Hotel today to plan a "diamond jubilee" meeting of the Association here in April of 1950.

The occasion next year will be in celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Association and approximately 1,500 people are expected.

Ballots also will be tabulated today of the State election of officers, which is conducted by mail.

Rehabilitation Meeting Held

Dr. H. B. Cummings, of Atlanta, Regional Representative of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, held today a conference of delegates from six Southeastern States yesterday there are 126,000 handicapped persons in the Southeast who need vocational rehabilitation service to become employable.

Speaking in Edgewater Park, Miss. Dr. Cummings said that although "more than 50,000 new cases are added to the rolls each year by disease," agencies in this region are restoring 11,000 disabled men and women to jobs a year.

Marines Use Helicopters In Landing

QUANTICO MARINE BASE, Va.—(P)—The U. S. Marines used helicopters instead of boats yesterday in demonstrating a new technique to get troops ashore in a beachhead assault.

With a simulated flight deck for takeoff and a realistic battlefield for landing, they demonstrated to about 60 members of Congress that the trick was both feasible and practicable.

Congress has been hearing suggestions lately that perhaps Marine troops should be turned over to the Army and Marine aviation to the Navy. The Marine Corps invited the Senators and Representatives, most of whom were former Marines, to visit this base for the demonstration. Actually, it was a rehearsal for forthcoming amphibious exercises off the Carolina Coast when helicopter troop transports will be flown off the 14,500-ton carrier Palau.

In offering this new assault plan, the Marine Corps has two major points in mind:

1. Reducing the hazard of an enemy atomic bomb attack on close formations of transport vessels necessary in conventional amphibious landings.

2. The helicopter landing operation can put troops down at any point desired, whatever the terrain. In this, there is the valuable advantage of surprise.

Amazing Action of CHEWING-GUM LAXATIVE DETOURS STOMACH!

Millions of people no longer use harsh, stomach-punishing laxatives! Today they're turning to FEEN-A-MINT—delicious chewing-gum laxative that does not upset the stomach.

Here's what happens! When you chew FEEN-A-MINT, the action of its special medicine detours the stomach. That is, it does not act while in the stomach, but only when farther along in the lower digestive tract... where it should act! Thus FEEN-A-MINT does not upset the stomach!

Besides, say scientists, chewing makes FEEN-A-MINT's fine medicine more effective—"readies" it so it flows gently and gradually into the system. You feel wonderful again!

The next time you need a laxative, chew FEEN-A-MINT. Get it at any drug counter—25¢, 50¢, or only 10¢.

again at 71, and the customers are shouting "Bravo" until they are hoarse.

Born in Vienna, she sang first in Germany, then at Covent Garden in London and finally at the Met, where she often teamed with the late Enrico Caruso. For years, she sang in musical comedies, and in 1938 and 1946 she appeared at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe. Last year she was starred in "Bravo," a Broadway show, which flopped. Now she lives alone in an apartment with two Pekingese dogs which she feeds lamb chops at $1.10 a pound.

Bandits Rob Atlanta Home At Gun Point

Police detectives yesterday were searching for two or three safe robbers who entered a private home Sunday on a ruse and got away with what may prove to be the largest amount ever stolen in Atlanta.

One of the robbers entered the home of N. E. Maddox, 1424 Richmond Rd., S. W., at about 8 p. m. Sunday on the pretext of wanting to use the telephone. Mrs. Maddox and her 8-year-old daughter were home watching a television show. The officers believe the bold robbery was probably committed by local men who knew Maddox personally and were familiar with his habits.

Mrs. Maddox told detectives she left the living room, answered the door and a man told her: "Mrs. Maddox, I would like to use your telephone. I have a flat tire."

She permitted him to enter and as she turned to switch on a hall light, the man drew a pistol.

He forced Mrs. Maddox to go into the bathroom where she fainted. When she recovered, her daughter and the man were in the room with her. She told detectives he then shouted to someone outside for more neckties. He used these to bind Mrs. Maddox and her daughter. Then he taped their mouths and locked them in the bathroom.

She reported hearing hammering in the house and after some 30 minutes her daughter freed herself and untied her mother. They emerged just in time to see a car drive away.

The husband, who operates a Spring Street used-car exchange, was away at the time and detectives were unable to determine the actual amount taken.

Maddox yesterday insisted it was "about $1,000 and some bonds." A uniformed policeman was quoted as saying he understood the amount approached $50,000 cash and some $25,000 in bonds.

Dets. Lts. I. G. Cowan and S. E. Smith said they could not begin to estimate the amount involved, but added that if it was the tremendous amount they heard it was, it would probably set the record for cash stolen in Atlanta. Old-time policemen say the only robbery they remembered as being larger was a Peachtree Street jewelry theft of $120,000.

DeKalb Convict In Assault Case Escapes Camp

DeKalb County Police yesterday were searching for a prisoner who escaped around noon from the DeKalb County convict camp on Memorial Drive, S. E.

Warden E. W. Wier listed the fugitive as Durin H. Farmer, 39, formerly of the Stone Mountain area. The Warden said Farmer had served about four months of a two-year sentence on conviction of assault with attempt to murder, imposed by the DeKalb Superior Court.

Farmer was serving as cook in the camp kitchen and apparently escaped when he was let out into the yard to hang up some clothes. He was missed a short while later and an alarm was spread for him.

Wier said the prisoner is about six feet one inch tall and is considered a "bad egg" at the camp. Wier said Farmer had served other sentences at the DeKalb camp.

City Teachers Voice Praise Of Atlanta School Board

The Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association, an organization comprising approximately 1,200 white teachers, yesterday indirectly criticized teachers in other sections of Georgia who have threatened to leave their classrooms.

The Atlanta group, headed by G. Y. Smith, President, voted unanimously resolutions praising the Atlanta Board of Education "for its understanding and co-operation in developing a school system that will better serve the needs of the boys and girls of the City of Atlanta and pledging anew the best efforts of its teachers to give to Atlanta boys and girls the best educational opportunities."

Members of the executive committee already had given their sanction to the resolution. Approval came yesterday at a meeting of the organization which numbers nearly 100 percent of the white teachers of the Atlanta system.

Thanking the Board for permitting teachers to have a part in the system.
